

FRANCE GIVES FIRM WARNING.

Issues Note on Germany's Moroccan Position.

Says Kaiser Must Reduce Territorial Desires.

Statesmen in Conference in Paris on Situation.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PARIS, Aug. 22.—A caution and firm warning was issued by the French government this afternoon relative to the negotiations with Germany, and saying:
"Ambassador Cambon will return to Berlin toward the end of August, probably about the 28th. Meantime he will have in Paris several conferences with the Premier, Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister of Colonies concerning the subjects of his conversations with Herr Waechter, the German Minister of Foreign Affairs."
"It is believed that the difficulties will find a solution. It is, however, true that the rights of France in Morocco must be recognized without diminution on the part of Germany and regulated definitely in a manner to avoid all future complications; and, second, that Germany reduce her territorial desires in French Congo which appear excessive."
Premier Caillaux is taking counsel of the diplomatic and political wisdom of France during these days of uncertainty in the Moroccan negotiations with Germany.
The French Ambassadors at Berlin, London and Rome, Jules Cambon, Paul Cambon and Camille Barrera, who had been summoned to Paris, were received by M. Caillaux today.
Justice De Selves, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, also conferred with the Premier, who is preparing for a special Cabinet meeting to be summoned for the end of the week.

RUMORS OF RUPTURE WITHOUT FOUNDATION.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BERLIN, Aug. 22.—Rumors that a breaking off of the negotiations between Germany and France regarding Morocco was impending were circulated on the Bourse after the close of the official trading today and caused a heavy drop in prices.
Inquiries here show that there is no foundation for the rumors, which appear to have originated at Vienna.
The government officials maintain their previously expressed belief that an agreement can be reached.

Matrimonial Joker Catches Tattler When Oklahoma Contractor Bites and Finds He's Bitten—Postal Authorities Jail Feminine Trader Upon Manly Follies.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
ST. LOUIS (Mo.), Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unable to give bond after waiting preliminary examination before Federal Commissioner Atkins here today, Mrs. Fannie K. Morton, handsome brunette, aged 32, known to postal inspectors as "the brass widow," is held in jail, charged with fraudulent use of the mails.
She confessed today that she had duped several men under the pretense that she wanted to marry them, in order to get funds to provide for her sick husband, Leon Alden, and his children by a former marriage.
She had represented herself as a brass-art-craft worker to sentimental swains in St. Louis, Kansas City, Omaha, Topeka, East, and other cities. She advertised for a husband and succeeded in defrauding those who answered until along came Joseph Nemiere, a Tulsa (Okla.) contractor.
He had her office furniture in the Fullerton block here attached several days ago on a claim that she obtained $249 from him under false pretenses. Yesterday detectives in his employ captured her in a houseboat near Alton, Ill., where she was living with Alden and his children.
She claims her husband knew nothing of her matrimonial adventures; that she really intended to find young bachelors for the men who answered them; that when Alden's health broke down she got the matrimonial agency idea through newspapers. The houseboat was bought to give her invalid husband outdoor life, she claims. Alden corroborated her story.

BRIDE'S HAPPY LITTLE NOTE.

Julia French Geraghty Tells New Jersey Justice She Thinks Wedding Knot Will Hold Awhile.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEWARK (N. J.), Aug. 22.—New Jersey's marrying justice, Henry Spitz of Union Hill, N. J., is proudly exhibiting a letter from Mrs. Julia French Geraghty, whose elopement gave Newark a shock a few days ago. Immediately upon receiving news of the elopement, Justice Spitz telegraphed to the couple an invitation to make free use of his services. The bride's reply, just received, follows:
"Dear Mr. Spitz:
"Your very kind letter received. I want to apologize for not having answered before, but you cannot imagine how rushed we have been. We have not really had a minute to ourselves. As you will see by the papers, we have been married a second time by the church and I think now no other marriage will be necessary, but thank you very much just the same."
"We are very happy and contented and outside of a little too much notoriety, everything is going along dandy. We would like very much to hear from you often in the future. Thanking you again, I remain, Yours

Judge Is Firm.

GIRL-WIFE WILL HAVE TO FACE JURY WITH SAD TALE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] That Anna Langley will probably have to face a jury and have her case tried in the Superior Court was the statement of Police Judge Deasy this afternoon, after the prosecution had closed its case.
The prosecution introduced three witnesses, all of whom testified to the manner of Langley's death, and the events that immediately led up to it. These all stated that the dead man had pushed his wife roughly from him when she urged him to go home.
At the conclusion of their testimony, Attorney Fitzpatrick, for the defense, stated that, in his opinion, the witnesses of the prosecution had upheld the belief that the shooting was unpremeditated and merely an impulse resulting from a temporarily deranged mind. He said that with the lack of premeditation it could not be called murder. He asked for the opinion of the court on this matter before proceeding with the defense.
Judge Deasy said: "I think that it is undoubtedly a case of murder—perhaps, even in the first degree."
Fitzpatrick said that he was in a quandary as to how to proceed, but said that if necessary he would put Mrs. Langley on the stand and have her repeat the story that was heard before the grand jury.
He said that her testimony showed that she was temporarily insane, while he said that it was a case of murder. He further said that if it was to be defended as insanity she would probably be compelled to face a jury, as he did not think it within the rights of a police judge to decide this matter.
During the hearing Mrs. Langley, who was with her father and mother, broke down several times.

NEGRO PROVES HARD TO KILL.

Bursts Bonds of Electric Chair and Survives 2000 Volt Charge—Second Time Succeeds.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
EDDYVILLE (Ky.), Aug. 22.—When Alfred Locke, a 22-year-old negro wife murderer, was paying the penalty for his crime at the penitentiary here today the man through whose body 2000 volts of electricity were coursing, struggled for twenty-eight minutes with superhuman strength, and finally broke the leather straps that bound his arms and legs to the death chair. After breaking the straps the negro toppled to the floor and apparently succumbed, but an examination by a prison physician revealed the fact that he was slowly reviving. His body was again strapped to the chair and 2500 volts turned on. Several minutes elapsed before life was extinct.

MORE LOVE, LESS WORK.

Wife of Wealthy Connecticut Man Sues for Divorce Because Husband Neglects Her for Business.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WESTPORT (Conn.), Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Karl A. Dolge of this city has brought suit for divorce. Her wealthy husband is treasurer and general manager of the Embalmers' Supply Company.
Mrs. Dolge alleges that her husband has been cruel. Her chief complaint seems to be that, in her opinion, he has paid too much attention to his business and too little to her; indeed, the tenor of her affidavit proclaims to married men that too much work and not enough love makes Jack a dull husband.
The suit surprises Westport society in which Mrs. Dolge is a leader.

NEW CHANCE FOR WILDE.

MAY CHANGE INDICTMENT.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—That a new indictment will be brought against Louis J. Wilde of San Diego, Cal., before his trial here on a charge of embezzling $100,000 of the funds of the defunct Oregon Savings and Trust Bank, now seems probable.
It is expected that the new indictment will be returned by the present grand jury on account of an alleged flaw in the indictment under which he was arrested and brought to Portland. The present indictment charges that Wilde was an officer of the bank, together with W. Cooper Morris, who is now in the State penitentiary, and that they conspired together.
Attorneys assert it will be difficult to prove that Wilde was an officer, strictly speaking, and the new indictment is expected to place the charge directly against Wilde, eliminating any powerless he is to act against the wishes of the dictator, turned to the Anti-re-electionists party, and combining forces, nominated Emilio Vasquez-Gomez for President, with Jesus Flores Magon for Vice-President.

FIRES OF REVOLUTION.

To appreciate the full force of this action one must remember that the Anti-re-electionists form Madero's own party, initiated by him two years ago, in Monterey, and headed by him ever since. It represents the backbone of the Maderist party, and in this city alone, numbers more than 70,000 members. The removal of Vasquez Gomez produced a signed statement from the board of directors of this party—known as the "Centro Anti-Re-electionista"—completely repudiating Madero, deposing him as head of the party, and placing Vasquez Gomez in the chair.
Added to these 70,000 voters, the rebel leaders involved in the affair control 20,000 troops, still under arms in various parts of the States of Mexico, Morelos, Guerrero, Jalisco, Michoacan, Veracruz, Tamaulipas, Sinaloa, Chiapas, Tabasco, Puebla, Tlaxcala, Durango, Oaxaca and the Territory of Tepic.

THROWN INTO PRISON.

When Madero learned of the nomination of Vasquez Gomez for the Presidency, he rushed to this city from Tehuacan, where he had been for some two weeks, taking a much-needed rest. Immediately on arrival here he ordered the arrest of all the rebel leaders who had had the temerity to nominate Vasquez Gomez, charging them with sedition. Warrants for these men had been issued the night before, on telegraphic orders from Madero at Tehuacan.

The chiefs, who thought they had done nothing except what lay within their right, according to Madero's pronouncements of free speech and free elections, made no attempt to flee, and on the morning of August 5, 125 of them were placed in the penitentiary, while more than half as many more were arrested during the next twenty-four hours.

Warrants were telegraphed to the authorities of every State listed above for the arrest of all the rebel leaders who belonged to branches of the Anti-Re-electionist Club, with the result that scores of others are in the various jails of the country, particularly of the southern part, wherein are located most of the rebel forces as yet unsmothered out.

THE CALL TO ARMS.

The result of these arrests was that word was sent by the members of the staffs of the various officers in prison to all the forces throughout the zone which they control, to hold them in readiness for a second revolution to be started immediately at the end of the seventy-two-hour communication period of the prisoners, provided they were not released, and given clear evidence of political health by Madero himself.

The men were also ordered to purchase all the cartridges and all the powder possible, and to have them on the sale of arms in various parts of the republic at present. In fact, this free sale of arms and ammunition in all the small towns, while it has proved a good thing for the hard-ware merchants, has enabled every one of the ninety-odd labor unions of the country to provide its members with Winchester, Savage, Mauser and other weapons, and with an abundance of ammunition.

Thus the union forces were enabled to work its will on the German men and women at Covadonga, and to hold El Oro, the greatest mining camp in all Mexico, powerless in its grip for forty-eight hours. Federal soldiers, not Maderist sympathizers, could be rushed in to protect the lives of the inhabitants of the once-prosperous town.
That this revolution will come like a flash of lightning unless Madero enforces his oft-promulgated platform of free speech and free elections, there can be no doubt, and the revolutionists are much better prepared than they were when they began the fight against President Diaz last November. Their defection takes away from Madero his strongest support and leaves to him alone the labor unions so suddenly born out of the disorder, and the few malcontents who are to be found in every center of population.

UNIONISM IS HIS RESCUE.

As has been outlined in a previous letter to The Times, there are more than ninety labor unions in Mexico, all formed since June 7. Already they have secured evidence of their civil plans, but their loyalty to Madero is, probably, unquestionable. Their full numbers, men, women and working children, all told, do not exceed 50,000 at a liberal estimate, and another liberal figure would place half of this number as the voting strength of the organizations.
It appears that on these 25,000 men and their propaganda Madero must depend for election, and it must be remembered that the better classes in Mexico, and in practically all other civilized countries are opposed to unionism in any form. For this reason, there is a long line of rough sledding ahead of these new Maderists, who are to be looked down upon by the men who really fought the battles of Madero and won his revolution.

ENTER THE OPPOSITION.

Among the men arrested were the most prominent leaders of the entire revolution in the south of Mexico, notably Gen. Alfonso Miranda, and his father, Gen. Joaquin Miranda, who captured Iguala, Yauhtec, Buena Vista, Joluita and other towns, taking besides more than $200,000 of their own money to outfit the army of 13,000 men, which was approaching this city from the south when Diaz resigned.

Candido Navarro, whose name has been a household word, was arrested, as well, along with young Gabriel Hernandez, who restored order in Pachuca when the union-leaders were looking for property and killing harmless residents. These men and all the others arrested, as well, are looked on by the people of all the southern half of Mexico as the saviors of the country. Whether this idea be right or wrong, time alone will tell, but certain it is that Madero made a serious misstep when he ordered their arrest instead of calling them into a meeting to consider the situation.

CATHOLICS COMING.

But the shadow behind the smaller clouds gathering on the political horizon of Mexico is the Catholic party, which met here August 15. Delegates from 600 divisions of the Catholic church in this republic will be present. Note this, that these delegates do not come one from each political division, as do the other party delegates to their conventions, but from divisions already established by the church.

Where the anti-re-electionists party will have two or three thousand delegates, and the National Democrats a similar number, the Catholics will have a small, compact body of 600, behind which will stand all the influence of the priesthood of Mexico. And never was a clearer campaign carried on than that which the Catholics are making. The speeches which the leaders, both in and out of the priesthood are making, are couched in the best of Spanish, and date driven home with all the force of the polished orator and keen argumentative attorney before the bar of the people. The Catholic church also has an immense influence with the women of the nation, and there is a well-filled church in almost every block of this city of 480,000 inhabitants. A similar ration prevails in outside towns. Here, it appears, Madero's foot slipped again when he forgot the Catholics of Mexico and their old-time enmity against the government of Diaz.

THE REYES METEOR.

The Reyes, scattered throughout Mexico, but particularly strong in the northern part where education and political knowledge is more advanced, met in the name of the National Democratic party, August 13, and named Gen. Bernardo Reyes for President, but the name of the Vice-presidential candidate has not been made public. Reyes has the following of the entire Federal army, and may be able to swing the Catholic fusion solely to himself, thus shutting Vasquez Gomez away from the pie-counter.

The anti-re-electionists also held their convention on August 13, their nominees, as has been stated, are Emilio Vasquez Gomez and Jesus Flores Magon, brother of the notorious Ricardo Flores Magon, who was in jail in Los Angeles, and in Arizona for various crimes, and who cannot return, even now, to Mexico. Jesus Flores Magon, however, is one of the most highly respected attorneys of the Mexican bar and is quite a different person from his brother. The Union Labor party, which is slowly crystallizing here, will work for Francisco I. Madero for President, but the vice-presidential candidate is still in doubt, and the labor people have not as yet set the date for their convention.

MOB MEMBER HELD.

YOUTH NO EXCUSE.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WEST CHESTER (Pa.), Aug. 22.—Judge Butler of the Chester County Court refused to grant a writ of habeas corpus today in the case of George Stahl, 18 years old, who was arrested on the charge of murder in connection with the burning of Zack Walker, the negro, at Costeville, ten days ago. In refusing to release the boy Judge Butler denounced the lynching and declared the "mob" had done a brutal deed and its leaders should be severely punished. The parents of Stahl, who live in Marietta, Pa., instituted the habeas corpus proceedings.

RIOTER HELD FOR TRIAL.

SEQUEL OF STRIKE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—The Coroner's jury today, following an inquest, returned a verdict by which it found that Dennis Cronin, a young laborer, met his death at Crockett from a gunshot wound inflicted by Edward Decker and recommended that Decker be held for trial. The shooting occurred on the night of August 21 during a riot precipitated by the arrival at Crockett of a number of strikers in the California-Hawaiian Sugar Refinery.

STOCKTON, Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Fire due to unknown origin broke out near the postoffice tonight in a block of tenement houses, which threatened a large area of frame buildings. After an hour's fighting the department checked the flames. A total loss of $7500 was sustained.

Mrs. M. E. L. Allen, of the Segram Press, has returned after a four-months' transcontinental trip, two months of which she passed in New York City. She visited many of the largest cities en route to Vancouver, and found many persons talking of coming to Los Angeles.

Socialist Raps Socialist Head.

W. D. Haywood Hands It to J. Stitt Wilson.

J. Stitt Wilson Grows Peeved at W. D. Haywood.

Then Both Turn and Knock Mr. Austin Lewis.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
BERKELEY, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "You are not a Socialist and I defy you to prove that you have done anything for the working class." This was the challenge hurled by William D. Haywood to J. Stitt Wilson, recently elected Socialist Mayor of Berkeley, at the close of a lively debate following a meeting in the High School auditorium last night.

Wilson had accused Haywood of having come to Berkeley to stir up trouble. Haywood said:

"What can you do in Berkeley as a Mayor for the working class? What could you do if you wanted to?"

"That's my business," said the Mayor, "and you had no right to mix in the affairs of my city."

"Yes, I have a right," answered Haywood, "to speak for the working class at any time and any place."

At that moment Austin Lewis stepped upon the platform. Wilson then accused him of having published lies in the eastern papers about him and his administration. Lewis denied the charge, but said he would not waste time in arguing.

Haywood, in his address, advised the working class to unite for action. He said that unionism as it tends to separate its units, with each unit working for different interests. He declared that only the formation of one big union could work the salvation of the working class.

Resolution Offered to Limit Spending Powers of Grand Officers—Fight on Cusack Campaign.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Resolutions calling for limitation upon the expenditures of all general officers are to be offered tomorrow at the thirteenth grand series of the Fraternal Order of Eagles, now in session here.

Thomas S. Greevy of Altoona, Pa., who prepared, and is to introduce them, is chairman of the caucus which supports J. J. Cusack of San Francisco for the Grand Presidency of the order and the move is considered to some extent a political one.

"The resolution cites that the expenses of all departments of the order have 'grown out of all proportion' to the growth of the organization. It provides for a committee of five to suggest retrenchment and means of limiting the expenditures of each grand officer. The committee is to report not later than Friday."

A resolution of like tenor was offered at a meeting of the Past Presidents and delegates and about two-thirds of those present left the meeting. The remainder adopted the resolution.

William J. Brennan of Pittsburgh poured cold water on a boom to make him Grand President by announcing today that he would not run for that office. He is a candidate for the Grand Vice-Presidency.

Fred J. Lynch of New Westminster, B. C., announced his withdrawal from the race for Grand Secretary, in favor of Conrad H. Mann. Lynch seeks to be Grand Conductor. The so-called "old guard" favors John S. Parry of San Francisco for the Grand Secretaryship, there being an evident tendency to allow several important offices to go to Californians, thus weakening Cusack's position in his Presidential campaign against Frank E. Hering of Indiana.

A ball for members and delegates was given tonight.

CARS BLOCKADED BY PASSENGERS.

ANGRY CITIZENS DEFY COURT INJUNCTION IN NORTH.

Refused Second Fare on Seattle Suburban Line, Demand Transfers, Have Car Crews Arrested, Throw Out of Car and Generally Assault Alleged Rights.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A group of about a hundred residents of Rainier Valley, a southeastern suburban section, ignored a temporary restraining order of the superior court, issued yesterday by District Judge Cornelius H. Hanford and by demanding transfers and refusing to pay a second fare at Rainier station, stopped every wheel on the Seattle, Renton and Southern Railway today. Incidentally the street car crews for failure to keep the cars moving and unreasonably dropped charges Hartung, superintendent of the street car line, out of a car window when he tried to eject a passenger.

ARRESTS FOLLOW.

The arrest of the car crews was ordered by Mayor Dilling as soon as he had been acquainted with the circumstances and the Mayor, after conference with Corporation Counsel Scott Gibson, announced that the Council would be asked to take action at once looking to relief for the residents of the valley from conditions brought about by the car company.

Copies of the injunction, which not only restrains patrons and enjoining them from interfering with the operation of the line, were posted in all cars. The passengers paid no attention to the conductors' demands and when the cars were stopped at Rainier station to force the payment of the second fare a blockade resulted. In a short time a long line of cars was backed up and fully 1,000 residents of the Rainier Valley, a southeastern suburban section, and the Seattle, Renton and Southern Railway late today, by modifying the injunction that forbids the company to force the payment of the second fare, and cars were stalled on the line tonight, and cars were stalled on schedule.

CHUL WHEAT GOOD.

RETURNS BIG HARVEST.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] After four years of experiment with chul wheat at the government introduction garden at Chico, E. F. Blanchard has succeeded in developing the chul wheat into the most productive variety of grain of that class ever grown in this country. The grain was planted on a few acres of land and good crops of alfalfa were being raised. The result was eighty-eight bushels of wheat to the acre, on the same land and under similar conditions the Australian white wheat produced but twenty bushels to the acre.

The chul wheat was introduced to this country from Turkistan in 1903 and farmers have been raising it, but having mixed it with other wheat in the sowing, they never have been able to obtain a clean crop of the one.

The government will distribute the chul wheat to all farmers who will ask for it in quantities which will be sufficient to plant enough seed grain for their own use.

TO INVESTIGATE JUROR.

MURDER CASE HALTS.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN JOSE (Cal.) Aug. 22.—When the motion for a new trial in the case of William Madison, convicted of the murder of his wife at Gilroy, on the 12th of last February, came up before Superior Judge J. H. Richards this morning, the case against the defendant charged that he had killed his wife during the trial that Madison was guilty. Judge Richards said next Friday, for a thorough hearing.

ARREST $1000, GETS $100.

COMPROMISED IN COURT.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The chambermaid, turned convict, who caused the arrest and conviction of John Zimmerman, a robbery suspect, has been paid $1000 by the city of San Francisco, and a conviction in the Superior Court today.

The woman, named T. A. Collins, had been arrested on a charge of kidnapping a $1000 reward for the arrest of a man named Zimmerman. Zimmerman was convicted, but inasmuch as the woman made a successful getaway with the reward, for which a suit was filed, the woman was today working on the theory that the murdered man might be Scott Beaser, the mining engineer, who disappeared from Table Rock in Plumas county in the Feather River Canyon above Oroville about two weeks ago. The description of the murdered man tallies in its general features with that of Beaser.

The man found here was about five feet, six inches in height, and weighed about 150 pounds and had dark, light brown hair, and teeth well formed and in exceptionally good condition. His age was estimated at about 34 years while Beaser is supposed to have been 31 years of age. His hands were smooth upon the inside and not calloused, showing that he was not a workman. The murdered man was very neatly, although not expensively dressed. A portion of the clothing was purchased here in Oroville, but the salesman has no recollection of the transaction.

PORTLAND CRITICIZED OVER PRISONER'S DEATH.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—A Coroner's jury today returned a verdict that Perry M. Barker came to his death yesterday in his cell at the city rock pile by fracture of his skull. The jury found that the primary cause of death was due to alcoholism, but added: "We believe lack of medical attention and improper control of the prisoner to prevent self-inflicted injuries, coupled with exposure, hastened his death." Barker was a well-to-do man. He was found dead in his cell of the City Jail with his skull fractured early yesterday.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Declared Legally Dead.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Ferdinand Zederman, last heard of at Reno, in February, 1903, was declared dead by Superior Judge Graham today. Letters of administration were issued to his brother, Louis Zederman of Los Angeles, who will divide a $1500 estate with a sister living in that city.

Jailer to Make Fight.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Chief Jailer White of Alameda county showed that he intended to put up a determined fight against the contempt proceedings before United States District Judge Van Fleet, when Attorney Samuel L. Shortridge and Bert Schellensinger appeared in his behalf today and obtained a continuance until Thursday. While is accused of letting a wealthy Chinese opium smuggler, Wong You go at liberty, while serving a six-months' sentence in the Alameda County Jail. The Chinese was arrested by custom officials while in his store in Chinatown.

Japanese Suspect Freed.

VACAVILLE (Cal.) Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] The Japanese arrested here several days ago as Henry Yamaguchi, alleged murderer of the Kendall family at Casadero a year ago, was released today, efforts to identify him having failed. Mrs. E. A. Collins and her son, Arthur, who knew Yamaguchi well, declared the suspect was several inches shorter than Yamaguchi.

Killed by Automobile.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Day Wire.] Miss Ruth Sturtevant, who came here recently from Seattle, was killed yesterday by an automobile that ran her down as she was crossing a street in Oakland. The driver of the machine says that the young woman became confused and stopped directly in front of it.

Killed by Electric Car.

ALAMEDA (Cal.) Aug. 22.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] An unknown mechanic working with the Southern Pacific section gang on the railroad track near the Webster street bridge, was instantly killed at noon by an east-bound electric train. There was nothing on the body to identify the man and his name is unknown to his fellow workers. He had only been with the crew a few days.

Jurists Impose Penalties Upon Men Who Dare Defend Themselves from Theft.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
CHICAGO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] One of the chief reasons for the crime-ridden condition of Chicago is the extreme deference shown to thugs, and the rigid penalties inflicted upon men who seek to protect their lives and property. In one of the courts recently, Judge censured a man bitterly for having in his home a weapon to defend himself and family against burglars.

The most recent case was witnessed in the Desplains-street court today, when Frank Swaro, a peddler, was fined $100, and ordered to pay it in installments of $25, to a striker who had assaulted him. Swaro was attending to his business during the recent peddler's strike against the city ordinances which forbid them yelling their wares in the vicinity of hospitals and in neighborhoods where night workers were trying to sleep.

Pinkus, Chermis, a striker, and some companions, attempted to drag Swaro from his wagon and give him the customary beating, meaning to destroy his property. Swaro, with the fate of a peddler previously murdered by strikers fresh in mind, shot Chermis in the leg as the latter was dragging him to the street.

MRS. CLEVELAND FIGHTS FIRE.

Work of Widow of Ex-President Saves Her Summer Residence from Possible Total Loss.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
MERIDITH (N. H.) Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Mrs. Grover Cleveland, who has been here during most of the summer with her children at her country home, desperately fought a fire in the gas house a few feet away from her house this afternoon, and with the aid of several persons on her property, managed to put out the flames and save her house. But that was not done until William Cook, the caretaker of the property, had been so badly burned that it was thought he would die.

Mrs. Cleveland sent to Boston for two physicians, who are now on their way to attend him.

Cook has not been able to explain much about the fire with his children. Mrs. Cleveland then attacked the flames and had others carry pails of water to the house. She hauled Cook away from the scene and he was carried to the dwelling-house. Then she directed the work of putting out the fire.

Dead Body of Unidentified Man Found Upon Bank of Feather River; Badly Decomposed.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
OROVILLE, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With a bullet hole through the stomach, lying hidden in a clump of bushes the body of a murdered man was found today by the banks of the Feather River.

The remains were in a bad state of decomposition and the crime had evidently been committed about two weeks ago. Nothing upon the body was found by which the identity of the victim could be certainly established. Sheriff Webber and his deputies have been busily engaged all day in a search for the weapon, but despite the fact that the ground all around the spot, where the body was found, was thoroughly searched no trace of the weapon nor of any of the possessions of the murdered man could be found.

The police were today working on the theory that the murdered man might be Scott Beaser, the mining engineer, who disappeared from Table Rock in Plumas county in the Feather River Canyon above Oroville about two weeks ago. The description of the murdered man tallies in its general features with that of Beaser.

On the theory that the murdered man might be Scott Beaser, the mining engineer, who disappeared from Table Rock in Plumas county in the Feather River Canyon above Oroville about two weeks ago. The description of the murdered man tallies in its general features with that of Beaser.

The man found here was about five feet, six inches in height, and weighed about 150 pounds and had dark, light brown hair, and teeth well formed and in exceptionally good condition. His age was estimated at about 34 years while Beaser is supposed to have been 31 years of age. His hands were smooth upon the inside and not calloused, showing that he was not a workman. The murdered man was very neatly, although not expensively dressed. A portion of the clothing was purchased here in Oroville, but the salesman has no recollection of the transaction.

DYNAMITE USED IN KANSAS CITY.

New Residence Damaged by Night Explosion.

Non-Union Men Employed in Construction.

Owner Had Troubles With Union Labor Before.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
KANSAS CITY (Mo.) Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dynamite attempted last night to blow up the new $7000 house which Robert J. Thomas, general manager of Montgomery Ward & Co., is building at Fifty-seventh street and the State line. The dynamite was placed underneath the reception hall and exploded. There was no cellar under that part of the second and third floors fell down, and the walls of the sides of the reception hall were badly damaged. The whole damage amounted to about $800, according to M. Whitaker, foreman in charge of the work.

Non-union men were employed on the house, but Mr. Whitaker says he had no trouble on that account. He declared today that he did not believe union men had anything to do with the explosion.

EXPLOSION NOT HEARD.

There was no watchman at the house at night. There are no near neighbors, and those who live closest to the new house said today that they heard no noise like an explosion last night. The wrecked upper floors and walls of the reception hall were discovered this morning when workmen arrived at the house.

Workmen are clearing away the wreckage today, and before night all will be ready for repairs. After that a watchman will be kept at the house at night.

A FORMER ATTEMPT.

An attempt was made to blow up the new warehouse of Montgomery Ward & Co., Nineteenth and Charlotte streets, the night of August 9, last year. Dynamite was placed against one of the concrete pillars of the southeast part of the building at 10 o'clock at night and exploded. Two of the concrete pillars were damaged, the temporary flooring was smashed, and several windows were broken.

At the time of the explosion, the company was employing non-union men on the building, and had refused the demands of the unions that union men be employed.

China Would Do Away With Office of Dalai Lama, But It Will Be Long, Slow Work.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PEKIN (China) Aug. 22.—The transfer of Prince Su, Chief of the Naval Department, to the Board of Dependencies, is taken to mean that China will attempt to develop Mongolia and Tibet, as well as Manchuria, and convert them into provinces with the object of saving them from ultimate foreign domination.

The Prince visited Mongolia in 1906 and made an investigation of its industrial and commercial conditions.

China is planning to allow the office of Dalai Lama of Tibet to lapse by not authorizing the reincarnation of a successor and so to control Tibet without religious intermediaries, but the rapid and effective fulfillment of this programme is not to be expected.

Reports predict an outbreak at Canton which will be the beginning of extensive revolutionary incidents in the South. An imperial edict commanded the Viceroy of Canton to ferret out the last plotter with the greatest secrecy.

NEW YORK AFTER QUACKS.

Two Alleged Healers, Brought to Bar of Justice by Medical Association, Give Bail.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—Efforts of the New York County Medical Society to rid the city of the illegal medical practitioners, brought two accused persons before the West Side court yesterday. Adèle Marie Rique, counsellor and speaker of the Advanced New Thought Cult, produced a $500 bill as cash bail for a later appearance.

A police matron testified that she had caught Miss Rique for a remedy for "pins in the back," and that part of the cure prescribed was a repetition of the formula:

"God and myself, myself and God, and myself, three times and then swing the arm around in a circle. The formula was to be repeated daily at noon. A course in this and similar treatments was offered at $25 a month.

Hester Doringest, who said he was a graduate of a "School of Chiropractic" of Davenport, Iowa, and who said he could cure typhoid fever and infantile paralysis by manipulation of the spinal vertebrae, was held in $500 bail for later hearing.

FUNERAL SERVICES FOR GATES.

Body Arrives in New York From Europe and Ceremonies Will Be Carried Out in Metropolis.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The body of the late John W. Gates, who died in Paris recently, arrived today on the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grossen. Mrs. Gates and her son, Charles G. Gates, accompanied the body. The funeral of Mr. Gates will be held tomorrow morning at the Hotel Plaza. Many friends from Chicago and the West, including a delegation of citizens from Fort Arthur, Tex., will attend the service, which will be conducted by the Rev. Dr. Wallace Macmillan.

FIGHTING AT CHONE, ECUADOR.

Rebels Attack Garrison, Are Defeated and Leader Meets Death. Quiet Reigns at Quito.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
GUAYAQUIL (Ecuador) Aug. 22.—The garrison at Chone, in the Province of Manabí yesterday repulsed an attack by fifty armed supporters of Gen. Flavio Alfaro. The rebel leader was killed and two others were wounded.

Detailed news from Quito announces that the city has returned to its normal quiet, following a week of some and rebellion. The rebel leader who the supporters of President Alfaro sought to proclaim a dictatorship. Public opinion failed to stop the movement and Alfaro was compelled to resign.

PATROL BROUGHT RESULTS.

Many Ordinary Soldiers Developed Into Strong, Fearless, Self-Reliant, Capable Fighters.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 22.—The patrol of the southern border during the Mexican revolution afforded valuable instruction to the American army, according to Gen. Joseph W. Taylor, commanding the department of Texas. He said, he said: developed many ordinary soldiers into strong, self-reliant men, capable of caring for themselves and their animals under most extraordinary conditions.

Gen. Duncan comments upon the constant changing of company and post officers as being detrimental to the contest, discipline and instruction of the soldiers, adding that "the individual soldier is not made to feel the personality of his company commander and unrest, discontent and the commission of minor offenses, and even of desertion, would be greatly decreased if officers were left with organizations sufficiently long to become identified with and interested in them."

"This condition of affairs can hardly be remedied, however, so long as the best officers of the line are taken for duty elsewhere and the rate of companies left to the changing personnel of inexperienced subalterns."

DAIRYMEN IN CONVENTION.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
DULUTH (Minn.) Aug. 22.—Today's programme of the Association of State and National Food and Dairy Departments in convention here, will include reports of the Executive Committee, secretary, treasurer and the Committee on Changing the Constitution to bring about the federation of kindred bodies. In the afternoon the subject "uniformity between the weights and measures provisions of the Federal law and the weight provisions of the State laws" was discussed by Dr. Herman Harms, State Chemist, and Willard Hansen, State Dairy and Food Commissioner, both of Salt Lake City, Utah.

DIES DURING CAMPAIGN.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BEAVER (Neb.) Aug. 22.—Judge J. E. Cobber died suddenly at a local hospital today following an operation for appendicitis. He was a Republican candidate for Supreme Judge at the primary election last week, and it is thought that the work of the campaign and worry over his defeat hastened his death. He coded the laws of Nebraska and was the compiler of annotated statutes of Nebraska.

NOT LIKE MOTHER MADE.

(BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
KANSAS CITY, Aug. 22.—That the modern housewife who attempts to bake her own bread produces a superior article, and is committing murder by allowing it to be eaten, was the statement made by Paul Schulze of Chicago, president of the National Association of Master Bakers, at the second day's session of the annual convention of that body here today.

"This country is full of housewives who are proud of their cooking, and who think they are doing their duty by baking at home," Mr. Schulze said. "The long-suffering stomachs of their families continue to pay the penalty of this mistaken sense of duty."

Mr. Schulze told of a woman in Indiana who had built up a business as "one health bread," her home product. She brought him a loaf and wanted to sell him the formula. "I cut into the loaf," said Mr. Schulze. "I saw that the center was unbaked dough. I have been wondering since what effect that woman's health bread has had on the death rate in Chicago. She was unquestionably committing murder."

Kentucky Authorities Hold Both Men Prisoners, But Youth Arrested in California Will Probably Assume Full Responsibility for Theft of Eighteen Thousand Dollars.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BURLINGTON (Ky.) Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Raymond Byland, assistant cashier of the Richmond (Ky.) Deposit Bank, who was arrested in Sacramento, Cal., and brought back to Kentucky, will in all probability, tell on the witness stand how he took the $18,000 which was missing from that bank when he and his father disappeared, eighteen months ago. He was sent to the Kentucky State Penitentiary to serve five years for that crime.

His father, John C. Byland, was asked to look after last night and was released yesterday at Burlington, Ky., upon a bond for $10,000 being signed by Appellate Court Judge John M. Lasing and Attorney Thornton Snyder. He is working now as a solicitor for one of the insurance companies in this city, while his wife lies dangerously ill at the home of relatives, No. 1345 Scott street, Covington, Ky.

The son is expected to tell how he stole $18,000 and spent it in riotous living in this city. If he confessed to taking the entire amount, the father will not be prosecuted.

John C. Byland said today that he is innocent of taking the money, and will prove this on the witness stand when the case is called. His son was arrested in Sacramento, where he was working as a driver, and he was later heard of this he was arrested and later confessed to the crime.

WIDOW TO REALIZE I

Estate of Alfred Muller. P.
Wills. All Hypothecated; I Say Mentally Unsound.
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE T.)

DENVER (Colo.), Aug. 22.—
Friends of the late Alfred Muller declared today that if he was al-his accounts as secretary of the tional Jewish Hospital for Comtives it was undoubtedly due to fact that he was mentally un-the last few months of his life.
"He was flustered at a certain yond reason," said one of his friends today and if he was al-his accounts, he did not know an sure of that."
Mr. Muller's will was filed to-hate in the Denver County Cou-day. It bequeathes all his propto his widow and names her Meyer Friedman as executor.
Mrs. Muller will receive "all anything from Muller's life like police." said Mr. Friedman as they are nearly all hypothec-

THINK SWIMMER DROWNED

Man Who Made His Way
False Bay Channel During Clothing Found on Beach.
(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE T.)

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 21.—T. W. bee is believed to have been drow-this evening while attempting to the channel at False Bay. Bibe-tered the water at 6 o'clock at Beach and succeeded in swim-across the beach. He was seen that forms the other side. The disappeared.
At 10 o'clock tonight his wife was still on the Ocean Beach where he had been hit. At New boats failed to discover him, thought he attempted to swim and was carried out to sea by swift current. There is also a gestion of suicide. In a pocket clothing was found an almost be letter which contained a mesbeginning "I leave my will up-post to you," the rest could not ciphered.
Little is known of Bibbee be-is said by acquaintances that he the son of a family for whom F.
Ariz., was named.

WAKING TO NEW RESPONSIBILITY.

Territory Appreciates Change in Conditions.
Voters Willing to Eliminate Recall Provision.

Both Parties Hope to Control Politics of State.

Special Correspondence of the Times.
PHOENIX (Ariz.) Aug. 21.—Following the celebration of the signing by President Taft of the Statehood resolution, second thought is now in full swing. It is felt that Statehood will give Arizona an added dignity within the nation, that it will stimulate immigration, that it will attract capital and that it will promote good government. On the other hand, there is appreciation of the fact that it will create greater responsibilities and greater costs and that it will be productive of an even greater degree of political rancor than ever before developed in Arizona's elections of the past.

The Statehood resolution provides that the President shall issue his proclamation of admission after the voters of Arizona have voted to eliminate the recall of judges from the Constitution. Though the "progressives" long announced their willingness to die in the last ditch rather than abandon this precious feature and despite the fact that a number of populist Senators voted to keep the Territory out rather than surrender this small point, there is expressed little doubt that the judiciary recall will be voted out at the election this fall.

PATRIOTS SEEK OFFICE.
Most of the patriots who so strongly favor it are after office, too, and they are not likely to endanger their chances for preferment. Curiously enough, however, there is expressed a fear that the anti-Statehood interests and they are not few and not weak, will combine to vote against admission. In this it is expected that they will be joined by the Western Federation of Miners and other radical elements, which are intolerant of correction or discipline, and which are resentful of the President's action. Thus, from two very divergent viewpoints, there may be cast a very considerable vote for the judiciary recall, though hardly enough to block Statehood.

Just the date when Statehood can be formally announced can only be guessed at, though there is little likelihood that it can be before the middle of next February. It is probable that the President will receive a certified copy of the resolution and full instructions from Washington within ten days. He may then take as much as thirty days for the issuance of his proclamation of an election that shall occur not less than sixty nor more than ninety days thereafter. The election will probably come in December, and the assumption of office, following the proclamation, could hardly occur for a month later.

DISTRESSING SITUATION.
From an office-holder's standpoint the situation is a distressing one. County officers and legislators have been holding over since January 1, last. Mainly Democratic, they will be jobless early in 1912. Almost as lamentable to consider is the fact that their successors will hold office only till December 31, another general election having to be scheduled in November of the same year. Salary for eleven months would hardly pay election expenses.

The matter of the terms of the Senators to be chosen is a rather hazy subject at this distance from Washington. Two Senators are to be elected by the first Legislature, in the spring of 1912, but just how long each will serve is something to be decided in Washington. There will be a direct vote on these Senatorships and the Legislature is expected to abide by the result.

A cumbersome primary election system has been proposed in the Constitution, which has in it a vast quantity of such special legislation.

BOTH PARTIES HOPEFUL.
Both parties have bright hopes for control. Both sets of hopes, however, are largely based upon the same conclusion of irreconcilable differences in the opposite party. It is not impossible that both are right.

Democracy is badly split, and what may be termed the "Mack" and "E. H. O'Neill" factions. The Mack faction, with Territorial Chairman Dillon included, is for the Democracy of the Jefferson brand, while the others, with main strength in this and the counties, are for all the latest government.

On the Republican side the split is between the "stalwarts and progressives." In the late election delegates to the Constitutional Convention were approved of the situation, this latter faction with the Democrats locally.

STARTS TROUBLE LANDS IN JAIL.

REDS CREATE DISTURBANCE COURT CORRIDOR.

Insult Governor of Mexican Who Seeks Refuge in El Paso. Patrolmen Take a Hand and Viciously and Strikes Officer.

Their ire aroused by the refusal of United States Commissioner Van Dusen yesterday afternoon to dismiss a case against Gen. Pryce, reds created a disturbance in the corridor of a Federal building. A. O. Hargrave, one of the number, was taken to City Jail with a charge of drunkenness against him. He will be held in the Bolson Court this morning. Hargrave is believed by the police to have been one of the instigators of the drunken brawl of the which they sought to dignify with the term of "protest."

The reds met outside the Bolson courtroom and did not even without being ejected from the building. They touched the wrong of however, when they led a verbal assault against Gov. Manuel C. Escudero, here from Ensenada, chanced to walk by them.

"One of the reds recognized the error and started the cry of 'No!' with the Governor. 'Viva Mexico!' Gov. Escudero feared a task upon his person, Patrolmen, who had been detailed to the courtroom upon request of the authorities, reported last night the operator to take himself to the Governor to the ground floor. When the reds raised the cry 'No!' the operator hurried to the ground floor and took charge of the situation. Hargrave fought viciously, his nose started bleeding. With first blow of blood, he became as white as steel, and attempted to make it appear as though he had been injured.

When placed in the police car he delivered a vicious blow to the left eye of Patrolman Bustillos, on officer. Bustillos was not so easily felled, however, and the reds and brother officers had been speaking Hargrave said he was very peacefully to the station. He is cents on his person.

Testimony to Be Against Red, on Trial Charged With Murder, Arson

Wanted in Mexico for Offenses.

Gen. Francisco Salinas, commander of a brigade of the insurgents, may tell all he knows about the operations at Tia Juana. If his testimony is needed, it will be given against Gen. Pryce, now on trial charged with murder, robbery and arson, growing out of the attack on that city last May.

Salinas was arrested in this city soon after the collapse of the insurrection. His case was called and continued from time to time, only

Assistant United States District Attorney Stewart denies that there is any arrangement with Salinas by the terms of which he is to be relieved of all charges against him, if he takes the stand against Pryce.

In the Pryce case yesterday, United States Commissioner Van Dyke overruled the motion of the defendant for the dismissal of the charges of murder, arson and robbery; on the ground that more than forty days had elapsed and since the arrest of Pryce last June, and before any action had been taken by the government. The taking of testimony will begin this morning.

Similar action was taken by Commissioner Van Dyke in the case against Gen. Mosby, J. B. Laffin and Samuel L. Reed, who are charged by the Mexican government with murder, arson and robbery.

In the motion to dismiss the charges against these men it was argued that more than forty days had expired since their arrest June 26. Commis-sloner Van Dyke held that they had been provisionally arrested under section 8 of the treaty with Mexico, in which case the forty-day limit did not apply. The charge is against the men jointly, and made by Arturo Elias, Mexican Consul in this city. The case of the government against the Prince will occupy all of today, when an adjournment will be had to give the defense an opportunity to summon its witnesses. Meantime the cases against Mosby, Laffin and Reed will be taken up.

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Troubles Generally Caused by Carelessness.

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also pro-caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to someone else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a sal-brush stroke of an infected comb or brush may well lead to baldness. Never try on anybody else's hat. Many a hat band is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which business, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are so sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial if it does not produce the results we claim. This remedy is called Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific believe it to be the most searching remedy for scalp and hair troubles and we know of nothing else that equals it for effectiveness, because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is devised to banish dandruff, restore natural color when the loss has been brought about when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want every body who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that Rexall "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence, and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have put our claim to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay us nothing for the result.

tion that the city will dictate new terms. Mayor Alexander, when told of the action, declined to say what he thought of it. He was a moving spirit in the conference of last week, when it was decided to impose no new conditions on the street railway company. It is probable that the Council will consider the best course to take before next Tuesday, but it is regarded as doubtful whether there will be enough votes to over-ride the veto of the Board of Public Utilities. The improvement associations and citizens favoring the lines will continue their efforts to have the grants made under the Broughton act. In spite of the action of the utilities board.

To make a quorum to act on this report yesterday, Councilman Williams came from his sick bed at Hermosa Beach to the Council meeting. The report was not ready and would not be ready until next Tuesday. Until he attends, a quorum cannot be had for another meeting. In the report to Council yesterday the board says:

UTILITIES REPORT.

The Board of Public Utilities herewith returns the application of Henry E. Huntington for the sale of a franchise for certain crostown car lines, so-called, and respectfully recommends that the same be denied.

This recommendation is not made on the ground that the routes selected in the application are not proper, for we do not pass upon that question. Nor is it made upon the ground that the city is not interested in crostown lines, for it clearly is.

In view of these statements and because our recommendation is made on broad lines of policy which require the most careful explanation, we deem it necessary to set down at length the reasons for our action.

For some years, franchises have been sold in Los Angeles under an act of the Legislature favoring the operation of this statute has been most unsatisfactory and under its provisions the city has been forced, as with the most valuable franchises, practically without compensation and probably to the lasting detriment of the entire city. Certainly, the city will not for many years recover from the effects of the administration of this unfortunate enactment. When, however, the recently proposed charter amendments were adopted on March 6, 1911, the people endeavored to place the sale of franchises in future, at least, on a more satisfactory basis. One of the amendments designed to enable the city to sell franchises under terms as it might deem just, and speakers who advocated the adoption of the amendment urged that a vote in its favor would free the city from the future, from the ill effects of the Broughton law. The purpose of the amendment was well understood on all hands and the people registered their approval of that purpose by adopting it by 1,521 to 264. Most of the amendments submitted at the election were of great length and covered a variety of subjects, but the amendment now in question stood entirely alone. The vote upon it is, therefore, peculiarly significant.

The amendment provided that a general ordinance, to govern the procedure relating to the sale of all franchises, should be adopted by the Council, and such an ordinance is now under consideration by one of the committees of your honorable body, and was so under consideration when the application now returned to the Council was filed. The amendment presented pursuant to the amendment announced by those who secured the consent of Mr. Huntington to make it, effecting a sale of the crostown franchise before the adoption of the general ordinance and free from the restrictions on franchise sales which is expected will be imposed by it. This was desired for two reasons. In the first place, it was feared that the passage of the general ordinance might be accomplished only after great delay and it was said that the people desire the crostown lines, already much delayed, should not be required to wait longer. Secondly, it was feared that Mr. Huntington might not buy a crostown franchise under what his enemies have termed the drastic provisions of the proposed general ordinance.

The application was, therefore, filed under such circumstances as to lead Mr. Huntington to believe, and we are satisfied he did believe, that any franchise sold under it would pass to him practically as free from restrictions and conditions as have been all franchises sold in Los Angeles since the Broughton Act went into effect.

In the consideration of the application we have been confronted by three questions:

- 1.—Should we recommend the granting of the application without conditions, except such as have marked sales under the Broughton act?
- 2.—Should we recommend the grant with conditions somewhat along the lines of the proposed general ordinance?
- 3.—Should we recommend the denial of the application without conditions?

We propose to consider these questions in their order.

Should the application be granted practically without conditions? Although an affirmative answer to this question was originally expected by those procuring the filing of the application, and by Mr. Huntington himself, for the reasons above set forth, such an answer is not possible. We have already, in purpose at least, removed ourselves far outside the influence of the principles laid down in the Broughton Act to permit our voluntarily recommending that any franchise ever hereafter to be sold by the city.

Should the application be granted with conditions? It has been pointed out to us that it is not absolutely necessary, in order to make the late charter amendment effective, that the city pass a general franchise ordinance. It is said that we may, in an ordinance granting the specific franchise now applied for, provide the conditions proposed by the general ordinance for the franchises to be sold, and we have considered that alternative. There are several insuperable objections to the plan.

1.—It would be to Mr. Huntington, as has already been stated, the application was filed with the understanding on his part, that it would be granted, if at all, under the most favorable conditions. As evidence of this frame of mind on the part of Mr. Huntington, his representative stated, on the eve of the presentation of the application, that they expected it would be granted with the usual conditions heretofore imposed under grants pursuant to the Broughton law would apply to no franchise, the grant of which would compel the laying of the grooved girder rail, even on paved streets. We are convinced, from reports of the City Engineer and from other sources, that the laying of the girder rail is of the most essential character of future street railway construction in Los Angeles. Further, the people are to vote at the next election upon a referendum ordinance providing that the girder rail in future construction will be overwhelmingly carried.

ried. Our minds and the minds of a large majority of the people are together on this question. So far as this particular point alone is concerned, it is better that the application be denied and both the city and Mr. Huntington placed in such a position that they may deal, not only as to this, but as to all future franchise applications, entirely at arm's length. It is not best for either party, and particularly not for the city, that a franchise application should be considered under any such circumstance as will prevent the city from inserting, in the grant made under it, every condition of its own, in the exercise of a sound and entirely unhampered judgment, may see fit to impose.

2. The application was filed to escape delay in the construction of the crostown lines. Such a course as is now under consideration would not achieve that result. If an ordinance granting a franchise under the application were to contain the conditions embraced within the proposed general ordinance, the expected contest and consequent delay over the general ordinance would be transferred to the special ordinance. No time would be saved. Further, any way that is to be waged over the conditions of future franchise grants had better, in the interest of the city, be waged over a general ordinance. There is thus more at stake and correct principles are more likely to be attained. If we commit ourselves to a certain line of conditions in a special ordinance, they may rise up to damn us when we proceed to the completion of a general ordinance.

3. If we should insert conditions in a special ordinance and conclude to change or depart from them in the general ordinance, we will be an added step distant from the end the city should attain; that is, the placing of all franchises granted by it on exactly the same basis, practical and legal, at the earliest possible time.

Should the application be denied? Having disposed of the two preceding questions, the only possible escape from the present one would be to hold up the application and make no recommendation upon it, or advise your honorable body to take no action upon it until after the adoption of the general ordinance. Under all the circumstances which confront us, such a course would be cowardly, and not fair to anyone whose interest is involved. By all the reasoning that has preceded, therefore, we are driven to recommend a denial of the application. There is more, however, which remains to be said. We recognize the great need for crostown car lines, not only to the people of the south and west but to the people of all parts of the city. They are not required so badly, however, by any section of the city, that we can afford to sacrifice, in providing for them, the sacred interests of time to come. It can be said of Los Angeles, probably more truly than of any other city in the world, that we are building, and building ordinarily with care and judgment, for a glorious future. We are committed to many advanced movements here which are destined, in their consummation, to play a great part in the emancipation of man from conditions which have distressingly enthralled him since the birth of the race. We have labored hard in hand for the working out of these problems and we owe it to ourselves and to the future to continue in the work. It is proper that we should make necessary sacrifices to carry it on. It will doubtless seem a sacrifice to many to be compelled to lay aside the building, even for a brief time, of these car lines; but it is the opinion of this board that there are great principles involved in the settlement, once and for all, of the franchise question in Los Angeles. That settlement will be a part of the general work the city is doing for the freedom of mankind from all undue political, social and economic restraints.

been exploded in most other cities of importance. Considering our progress and progressiveness upon other questions, it is most remarkable that we are so far behind the world on the point referred to. We have not yet gotten away from the belief that franchises must be sold at the terms the buyer sees fit to impose, not as in the case with every other species of saleable property, at the price and upon the conditions exacted by the seller. Other cities have easily met this problem, and where care has been exercised and just conditions imposed, although sometimes new and advanced, the franchise has been found in selling franchises. The same work can and will be done here. It is only necessary that justice and equity be the basis of the new general franchise ordinance and sales of franchises will go on as before, no matter how much may be said, at the outset, by men who are not informed, as well as by men who do not desire to see the old order changed, as to the drastic character of the ordinance. It may be taken as certain that, even if some provisions of the ordinance finally to be adopted are new to us, the ordinance will contain nothing unjustified by ripe experience elsewhere. Having labored as long as we have under the provisions of the Iniquitous Broughton act, it is time that we borrowed from the world some advanced ideas as to municipal franchise selling.

The people who have been agitating the building of the car lines now in question have been patient already under delay. We urge them to be patient yet longer, and to the end that the delay be as brief as possible, we urge your honorable body to adopt a general franchise ordinance, with such provisions as may be appropriate, at the earliest possible date. The crostown line question can then be considered on a proper basis.

COUNTERFEITING.

inal lines for years. Five years ago they were arrested in San Diego on the charge of issuing counterfeit 50-cent pieces. They both pleaded guilty at their hearing in this city and were sentenced to Folsom for two years.

Later Pryon assumed the name of Steve Ramsey and with Burns they opened a counterfeit plant in a hut in the vicinity of Vanowen. Burns, who is a cripple, did the work, and Pryon, alias Ramsey, who preyed mostly on the street, did the charge of counterfeiting. They were arrested in 1908 and both pleaded guilty to the charge of counterfeiting. Pryon was sentenced to three and Burns to seven years in the penitentiary. They made a desperate attempt to escape from the launch which carried them across the sound to the island from Tacoma, but were prevented.

Neil's Island June 15 of this year. His arrest followed in just a month. When allowed to leave the prison he came directly to Los Angeles and went to Santa Fe Springs. Apparently he immediately recommenced the manufacture of the "queer."

It is a dangerous counterfeiter of the most dangerous kind. He has knowledge. About twenty specimens of his 50-cent coins are now in possession of Hazen. Aside from the fact that they are a little light in weight, they would be accepted without question by any but an expert.

NOT ENOUGH PICKERS.
Harvesting of the Cotton Crop in Imperial Valley Handicapped by Shortage in Workers.

IMPERIAL, Aug. 22.—Cotton picking has begun in this valley but work is handicapped by a deficiency of pickers. Most of the cotton is of the volunteer variety. J. C. Vasquez delivered the first bale of cotton at the Imperial gin; D. H. Imier of La Verne ranch came in with the second bale. Vasquez and Imier sold their cotton to J. S. Russell of Seymour, Tex.

In general the prospects for a large crop are excellent.

WELLS BACK IN FORM.
PRODUCTION OF PALMER.

The work of cleaning out Palmer well No. 1 ("Old Faithful") is nearly finished. The well is now on the pump and yesterday was producing 500 barrels of oil per day with increasing gas pressure. A great deal of sand is coming out with the oil and as soon as this is cleared there is no doubt that the well will resume its production of something more than 1000 barrels per day. No. 2 has also been put on the pump. The well is still very heavy with sand, but production and gas pressure are coming up fast and the well is expected to be gushing 800 barrels a day within a short time. Wells 3, 4 and 5 are fast turning into gushers and No. 6 is expected to be producing within sixty days.

In Palmer Union No. 1 the lost tools have been recovered after a long period of fishing for them and the accumulated sands are being cleared. The well will no doubt start to gush within a month's time. Its pay sands are thick, and the gas pressure greatest, of any well yet drilled in Cat Canyon. No. 3 is already into production and is turning out a steady stream of oil. These two wells are expected to be finished at about the same time. No. 2 is down 2449 feet, and is expected to be producing within sixty days.

Oil from the Palmer tanks is being shipped daily to the refinery at Hadley, and the Union and the Associated pipe lines are taking it right

RECTIFICATION.
LOS ANGELES, Aug. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On Page 3 Part 1 of your issue of June 26, 1911, under the caption "Mamma married daughters sue," is a telegraphic item from Ft. Worth, Tex., in which, after setting forth the fact that a petition had been filed in the Texas courts by the daughters and son-in-law of the late A. J. Roe against their mother and her present husband, Mr. Gorham Tufts, Jr. (myself), and after setting forth the facts of the case, the nature of the suit, the following is stated: "The petition further alleges that since the marriage of Gorham Tufts to their mother (i.e. the mother of the plaintiff heirs), he has converted several pieces of the estate into cash through sales that were not authorized."

The statement quoted is a direct invitation of practical thievery on my part. There is no such allegation or statement contained in the petition in question, and the statement is a direct invitation of practical thievery on my part. A foot of the Roe estate has been sold by me.

It seems to me that you should rectify this most damaging misstatement, and place me in a proper position before the Los Angeles public.

GORHAM TUFTS, JR.
(The Times is glad to give Mr. Tufts the full benefit of his statement in this case in controversy in the courts.)

For a Million-Dollar Farm.
Application was made yesterday afternoon by the Los Angeles Investment Company for a building permit to cover the construction of the company's proposed thirteen-story office building at the northeast corner of Eighth street and Broadway. The cost named in the specification filed is $1,000,000. Several days will be required for passing upon the plans submitted, although it is quite possible that the project may be officially recorded among the August building activities.

SINGLE TAX.

The single-tax system, which exempts taxation all property other than land, places the entire burden on land—yet improved and unimproved land at the same value, was adopted five years ago in Vancouver, B. C. Its effect there has been to stimulate the building of factories and to increase the population. The tax on real estate is not felt to be onerous. Seattle, it seems, is getting ready to establish the single-tax system in order to meet the rivalry of Vancouver. Result will be watched with interest.

TRYING TO BE BELIEVED.

A local man claims that he was engaged to make an unskilful investment in a pretty woman. He blames the woman's withdrawal for his financial blunder. It is a happy comment on the manhood of a woman that confesses a state of affairs wherein a woman has only to smile to be able to lead her names and pocket money to any sort of scheme. This is made able by a masculine attitude of mind so different as to either amount to silliness or perversion. Women are hardly to be used if they recognize this almost universal of men and sometimes make it pay more than diamonds, wine and flattery.

SINNING GLORIES.

If you see a morning glory on your way to work it is a sign of good luck. The lucky sign about a morning glory is the memory of a man who came across morning glories in the bright dew stung the grass with his bare toes as he drove the cows in the clover in which they pastured over a morning glory vine made the half-dried-down cabins of the negro quarters like gems in the morning sunlight. The blue and pink morning glories were the cheeks and eyes of every boy's first sweetheart. The walk of no man in his care can be so thorny or so sordid that the sight of a morning glory is not good for his soul.

IN PRESIDENT.

Some of the eastern papers have announced that the itinerary of President Taft's visit to the Coast has been arranged, actively, so that he will come by the Santa Fe route, journey from Seattle to San Francisco, where he will break ground for exposition, and that he will return East there by the central route, not visiting Los Angeles. The Times hopes that this alleged programme will be changed, and that Angeles will be honored with a visit to him. He is respected and loved here, small and dirty coterie of grafters and who have been slandering and insulting in the columns of the Wall and Dispatch, and are without influence or character. He will be given an old time California welcome if he will come this way.

EVOLUTION AND REVOLUTION.

Mexican politics offer the world an interesting study at present. Perhaps the existing conditions are little enough understood by the participants themselves. Four candidates for the Presidency. At least three of them are well known to all the people and any one of them would be a good President. There can be no doubt that either of the four who may be elected will carry in his mind and heart the outcome of this disturbance ought to be gradual evolution, not only for the improvement of politics and finances, but of general temper and energy of the people. Mexico has in hand the great task of elevating the tone of the whole people. They must bring mentality and moral up to the best physical and economic standards which they can establish. It is by these steps that either an evolution or a revolution can bear the full fruits of a new era.

NEWSPAPERS AND CRIME.

A good newspaper tries to give the history of the day and night on which it is issued. The conclusions drawn from events are only by-products, obtained from this mass of evidence. The newspaper's opinions and its influence are the outgrowth coming through reflection. An hypocritical editors of sheets alleged their owners to be newspapers pretend give a history of a day's events without giving criminal incidents. Nothing could be more illogical and immoral, if it could be accomplished. Society is organized as much for protection as anything else. Society must jail a thief nor hang a murderer. Society must exercise the right of self-protection and without doing something to correct misdeeds. Publicity is the wrongdoer's punishment—what he most dreads. Everybody knows that everybody else does it all for as men go wrong will they be punished. Sticking his head in the sand never saved an ostrich and it will not fool the public nor save a fool editor. A one-way way to deal with life is to deal honestly with conditions as they exist. Men reach the ideal only through the truth. For an editor to say that he will do no crime and print no crime is merely lie to himself if he is in good faith and lie to the public whether he is a fool or a knave.

Los Angeles will entertain Secretary of the Interior Department on his return from Alaska. In Fisher one of the "big fish" of whom Kingsley wrote, "I am selling out into the West, out into the open, out into the light."

AND WE'RE GLAD!

A Hall Arizona! The Times welcomes you into the sisterhood of States, although it does not like the referendum skirt and low-cut initiative waist in which some of your precinct statesmen arrayed you for the bridal ceremony.

But let that pass. The people of an American community have always—when the sober second thought intervened—proved wiser than their own unwise laws, and many a statute sleeps unenforced because there is no public opinion to demand its enforcement.

The legislators of the new State will be swift to enact any law that the public good demands, and the initiative will probably not be soon invoked. They will likewise be very careful not to enact any law that is opposed by public sentiment, and the club of the referendum will be covered with the mold of disuse.

The recall of State and county officers—other than judges—may be frequently invoked, for candidates who are defeated by a trifling majority will be tempted to sing the old song, "If at first you don't succeed, try, try again."

As for the recall of the judiciary The Times advises Arizona to disregard the counsel of the yellow-dog press that advises her to watch. The conductors of these senseless journals who have no more idea of honor than so many ideas have been advising Arizonians for weeks to stand upon their sacred inalienable right to stuff their Constitution with fads and have counseled them to remain out of the Union forever rather than to abandon recall of the judiciary.

Now they turn squarely around and advise Arizonians to withdraw the recall in order to get into the Union, and then recall their withdrawal of the recall of judges, dig up the defunct fad, restore it to its original place in the Constitution, singing, "Jack, Jack, snatches his money back."

The Times advises the people of the sun-kissed land to accept the Statehood for which they have been striving for fifteen years. It advises them to relinquish the recall of the judiciary and then abide honorably by their bargain. Surely the lawyers of Arizona are not such an awfully bad lot that they cannot furnish a supply of judges fit to stay on the bench over night.

Los Angeles of whatever politics are stretching their hands across the Colorado river and saying to Arizona, "shaka." We are as glad as you are that you are in. You belong to us in the winter, and we belong to you in the summer, and we both belong to each other all the year around. We don't care a Roosevelt dam what your politics are. You can have one-half of the waters of the Colorado River. Our cash is ready to help dig your mines, and smelt your ores, and build your railroads, and erect your skyscrapers, and if you run short of eligible candidates for State and county offices and need some suffragettes and spellbinders in your business we can let you have a job-lot of progressive, franchise-hogging, telegraph-tapping, insurgent Republican politicians on your own terms. Nothing down, balance in five, ten and fifteen years, without interest. Welcome, sweetheart!

"DICK TO DICK."

The "Dick-to-Dick" letter with which scoundrels, male and female, sought to besmirch President Taft, was aptly characterized by Congressman Humphrey of Washington as either "an ordinary and stupid forgery, misapprehension and entirely-born of the distorted and disordered imagination of an irresponsible, hysterical, petticoated muck-raker," or else the woman was "the unsuspecting and innocent tool of designing enemies of the President, who were too cowardly to strike except from the dark and from behind."

To investigate the facts a committee was appointed by the House of Representatives weeks ago. The same influences that inspired the vile attack on President Taft have evidently operated to smother the investigation. The friends of the President produced as witnesses before the committee Secretary Fisher, Ashmun Brown, Don M. Carr, Delegate Wickham, Mr. Ryan, the alleged writer of the letter, and Miss Abbott herself, and none of these witnesses were allowed to testify; at least they did not testify, although they appeared several times before the committee for the purpose of testifying. The chairman of the committee, when questioned why the investigation had been delayed, answered that there were certain papers that the President had sent to the printing office, and that he was waiting for copies of them. Yet the original papers were within reach of the committee at any time they desired to use them.

"The Democratic Investigating Committee," said Congressman Humphrey, "with much blare of political trumpets, with hysterical publicity and glaring headlines in the saffron-hued press, started to investigate these matters and to give the truth to the public."

The committee held one or two meetings, but they examined no witnesses. They were "waiting" for something and finally they ceased to meet and the shouting and tumult came to an end.

"The Secretary of the Interior," said Congressman Humphrey in his speech in the House last week, "asked that Miss Abbott be placed upon the witness stand. Why was it not done? What has caused this sudden change of attitude? What has come over the spirit of the dreamers of these enthusiastic investigators? What has so suddenly happened to cool their patriotic ardor? What is the reason that this committee does not want to hear the evidence? Does it want to give the truth to the country?"

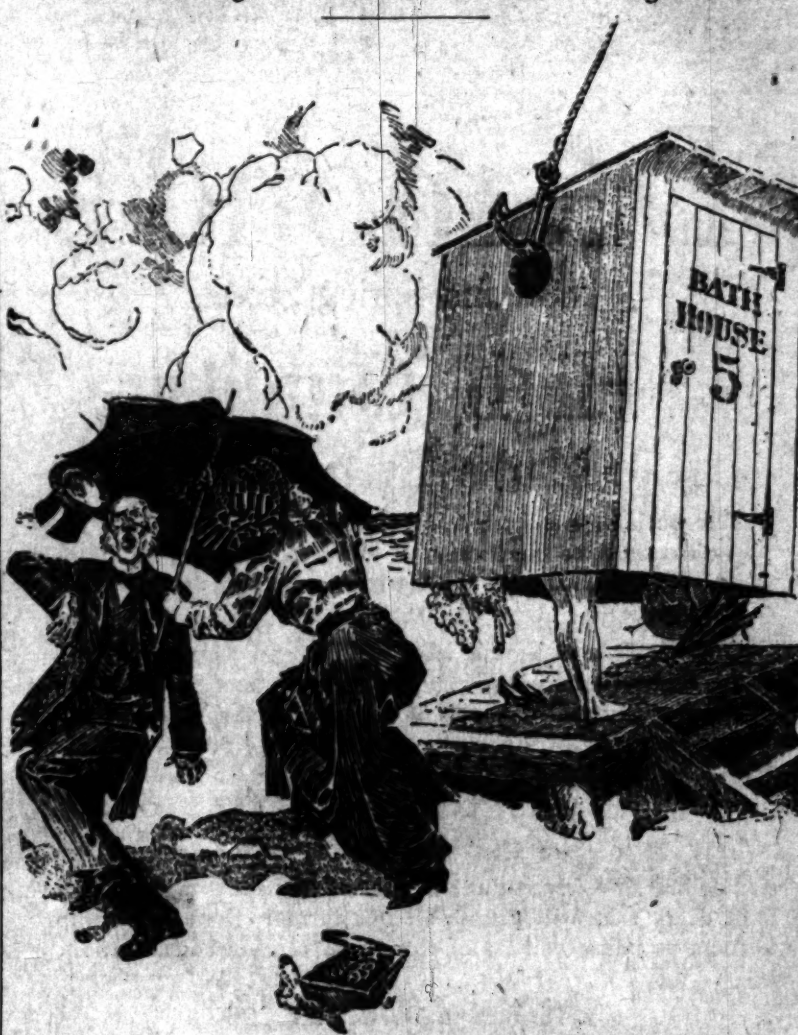

"By their action they have helped to give wide publicity and attention to a most scandalous and scurrilous attack upon the President. Is it possible that they are now willing by their action to protect those who are responsible for these charges? Do they wish by their inaction to protect those who by forgery and vilification assassinate the character of public men? Delay can benefit only those who have something to conceal. No honest man can object to the immediate and complete truth being made public. To delay without cause this investigation cannot be in the interest of honesty. Again I ask, What is the matter that no further proceedings are being taken? Are the tracks of vilification and slander leading in the wrong direction? What has happened that the truth is no longer desirable to those who are so eager to investigate these irresponsible charges?"

Mr. Humphrey concluded his arraignment of the Democratic Committee with an appeal for justice to Alaska.

"If anything wrong has been done," he said, "let us know it now."

"If any officer in this government, even the highest, has failed to do his duty toward Alaska, let us know it now. "If any company has been given privileges in Alaska that it should not have been granted, let us know it now in order that such privileges may be withdrawn."

Nobody Is Safe Nowadays.

"If anything has been done in relation to the Control of the Yukon that is antagonistic to the interests of the people, let it be known now, while there is still time for Congress to act, and while we still have power to abrogate any privileges that may have been given. In order that Congress may act to right any wrong it is vital that the facts be known promptly."

"If, on the other hand, if he true, as has been charged, that these attacks upon the President are a political conspiracy to discredit him, and the expressed desire to protect Alaska is only a pretense to accomplish this purpose, then let it immediately be known to the country."

"It is to be true that these imputations, as has been charged, are inspired by those who have great interests in the East, and are for that reason opposed to the development of Alaska, then these facts should be made known. If it is influence that has induced this committee to suddenly stop this investigation, let that fact be known."

"If any and all of these charges are false, then let that fact be known. No honest man can object to the truth. Whatever the facts may be, there is no justification for the delay of this committee in their investigations."

"The people of Alaska are American citizens. They went there having faith in this government, having faith in the honesty and in the integrity and intelligence of Congress. They have been patient and long suffering, and they are entitled to relief, and entitled to relief now. The delay of this committee in this investigation is another obstacle to immediate help to the people of Alaska."

"If the President is guilty of the things directly charged in that letter, which no person in the United States believes, then he is unworthy of his great office. The people of the country are entitled to know upon what ground such charges are based. It will not do to say that these charges made are immaterial now after the committee has given them sufficient weight to start upon an investigation. If the committee takes this position, that this letter was an infamous forgery, then why do they not inquire into who was guilty of such criminal methods to traduce the President and to cast a shadow over his great reputation?"

The gamboge press in Los Angeles, after having brutally denounced President Taft on the strength of the "Dick-to-Dick" forged letter, have not the candor nor the courage to withdraw their false statements and to admit that they were deceived into making them by their muck-raking condutors in the East.

PINCHOT SMOKED OUT.

Pinchot, the pet of the insurgents and go-goos, is being "smoked out." The Encroachment, in which he is a beneficiary, is interested in the Pochontas coal fields and in the Pochontas Sales Company. The government pays $3.80 per ton for Pochontas coal delivered at San Francisco and a higher rate for delivery at Puget Sound and at Alaskan ports. Nineteen foreign vessels are now on their way from Newport News to San Francisco and Puget Sound laden with Pochontas coal for delivery at naval stations on this coast. Government engineers have reported that Alaska coal of better steaming quality and of a higher percentage of efficiency for all purposes can be delivered at Puget Sound for $4.90 per ton.

By using Alaska coal in its warships the government would save $1,000,000 per annum—and patriotic Pinchot's Pochontas company would lose that amount.

And that is where Pinchot comes in. The interests of Pinchot are identical with those of the Weyerhaeuser lumber trust, and as this trust owns in fee immense tracts of timber land, it is anxious to have all other timber lands "conserved."

And that is where Pinchot comes in. The British Ship Owners Association, the owners of the Pochontas coal fields, the Weyerhaeuser Lumber Company, the steel interests and certain railroad companies have worked to keep the Alaska coal out of competition on the Pacific Coast. To promote their plans the Forestry Department while in charge of Pinchot, expended large sums of government money in exploiting by publicity the game of conservation.

And that is where Pinchot comes in.

Under the plea of "conservation" the forest reserves in Alaska have been extended over large areas of country where there is not one stick of growing timber. These reserves were extended in order to keep prospectors from locating coal lands.

George W. Woodruff, Assistant Attorney-General for the Interior Department, owed his place to Pinchot. Secretary Ballinger forced him to resign. Then Pinchot made Woodruff Secretary-Treasurer of the Pochontas Coal Company.

And that is where Pinchot came in. Glavis, Pinchot's satellite, has been imported into California and appointed by Gov. Johnson to a lucrative secretaryship.

And that is where Pinchot came in. Pinchot has tied Johnson, and Lissner and Earl, and Howell and Works like so many dogs to the tail of his vehicle, and they trot along, proud and contented, on meager fare and wag whenever their master notices them.

And there is where Pinchot comes in. Los Angeles are paying $12.00 per ton for inferior coal when, if Alaska coal could be mined, it could be sold here for $7.00 per ton.

And there is where Pinchot comes in.

UNCLE WALT.

The Poet Philosopher.
 It happened once upon a day, a wicked man was sent to jail; he trod the hard tread of the treadmill, and swiped a good fat roll of kale. They put him in a cozy cell, with books to cheer his solitude; they washed him and they fed him well, and he grew fat on prison food. He had no troubles on his mind, no worry over the bills to pay; he removed from life's sad, beastly grind, he beamed with smiles the livelong day. And in a dreary, dismal shack, his wife was toiling at the tub, with aching heart and aching back, to bring her wretched children grub. And often at the close of day she went to bed, to moan and sob, and wonder, in her feeble way, if God was really on his job. This is the justice that obtains in this fool world through which we reel; we give the slacker silken chains, and break his children on the wheel. We put the convict in his cell, and place light burdens on his back, and give him books and feed him well, and stretch his wife upon the rack.

WALT MASON.

(Copyright, 1911 by George Matthew Adams.)

A Mighty Mean Man.

[Saturday Evening Post:] The late Senator Elkins of West Virginia was exceptionally good-natured, and spent much of his time trying to redeem promises of jobs and legislation he made when approached by constituents he hated to refuse.

One day Senator Carter said to him: "Steve, why in thunder do you make all these promises and then stew around trying to make good on them?"

"That reminds me of a trip I once made across Iowa by stage," said Elkins. "I rode on the box with the stage driver and we spent several days getting to Council Bluffs. The driver was acquainted all along the line. He had a dog that usually traveled with him, but on this trip the dog wasn't there. He was asked about the dog at every stopping place and he explained that he had just been come the mother of a fine litter of pups. Each person to whom he made this explanation asked for one of the pups, and in each case the driver promised one."

"When we got to Council Bluffs I said to him: 'My friend, I have heard you promise about forty pups on the way across this State. How many pups did that dog of yours have?'"

"Four," he replied.

"Well," I asked, "why did you promise to give away about forty?"

"Mister," he said, "did you ever stop to think it's a mighty mean man who won't promise a friend a pup?"

Where the Money Will Go.

[Chicago Tribune:] "Maria," Mr. Dorkins said, with a note of exultation in his voice, "I turned a trade today that netted me a clean $2000."

"Humph!" ejaculated his spouse, in her loftiest you-make-me-dread manner; "I went out today to hunt up a first-class cook, and I got her, John—I got her!"

THE VETO TOCSIN.

California and the Recall.

[San Francisco News Letter:] In the message of President Taft vetoing the Arizona-New Mexico Statehood resolution there is a special message for California—a special message and a special warning. The reason for the veto was the inclusion in the proposed Arizona Constitution of an out-and-out judicial recall provision. This provision seemed to President Taft "so pernicious in its effect, so destructive of the rights of the judiciary, so likely to subject the rights of the individual to the possible tyranny of a popular majority, and therefore, to be so injurious to the cause of free government" that he felt bound to exercise his constitutional right and perform his duty to the republic by forbidding the passage of the resolution.

The message is a masterly and convincing exposition of the perils that lie in the judicial recall idea. It is by long odds the best state paper that has come from the hand of President Taft. It puts him and his administration on a yet higher plane of statesmanship. The essence of it is not politics, but patriotism.

And the perils to Arizona and to the republic in the proposed Constitution are colling and lurking in the shadows of the early future for California. Our case is far worse than that of Arizona. Here there is no wise and firm and patriotic Executive to protect us from the madness of the judiciary recall. No President's army may be put out to save California from this wrong, this folly. The Governor of California is a fanatic on this subject. He not only favors but demands that which President Taft damns as a grave menace to popular government.

So the voters of California must protect themselves from this evil of the judiciary recall. To them the Taft message ought to be like a general alarm of fire, a beacon light on a deadly reef of governmental wrong, a call to arms against a worse peril than invasion from without or treason within. Every word of its solemn warning should go straight home to the conscience and the patriotic sense of an enlightened community. The thoughtful citizen who reads this message carefully will be ready to throw overboard the whole recall amendment rather than risk for his State and for the principle of free government the dangers of the judiciary recall.

Struck the Hot Spot.

[New York Sun:] President Taft strikes when the iron is hot. He strikes, indeed, in his message vetoing the Arizona recall resolution, at that particular spot where just now the iron is hottest. The issue of transcendent importance before the people at the present time is that which is raised by the concerted attempt of the promoters of fluidity in our institutions to apply the dangerous principle of the recall even to the judges on the benches of the States, State and Federal. The Sun has recited several occasions and at sufficient length the reasons for its abhorrence of the immeasurable change proposed, and for its unalloyable opposition to every step leading to the control of judicial proceedings by street-corner vote. We hold it to be the first duty of Americans who care for the preservation of that which they possess and that which they have always cherished in the way of organic, wisely-apportioned and stable government to resist with their utmost energy every manifestation of this project of disorganization. We welcome the appearance of Mr. Taft's brave blow not the less because the blow has struck where it was unexpected. In truth, if this hot iron is not beaten cold it is likely to enter the nation's very soul.

Government by Passion.

[New Haven Journal-Courier:] In organizing this government the fathers were into the political fabric wherever possible that principle of self-restraint in order to impart to the political experiment about to be undertaken sufficient orderliness and responsibility to make its success likely. A government, be it what it may in form and substance, is not a thing of ink and paper. It is an experiment pure and simple until its efficiency and efficacy have been demonstrated. Then it is seen to be composed of experience, of traditions growing out of experience, of hindsight as well as foresight, of court decrees, etc. The recall of the judges would strike a blow at this human method of establishing a government and substitute for it a government of impulses and passions.

An Independent Judiciary.

[New York Tribune:] President Taft's powerful veto message dealing with the Arizona Constitution will be an important influence in preserving to this country as independent judiciary; and that is certainly its purpose. Mr. Taft looks far beyond the Arizona situation, with regard to which it might be said, as indeed it has often been said, that not much was to be gained through preventing the adoption of the Constitution containing the recall provision affecting the judiciary, since Arizona, having been admitted with the objectionable feature of that provision stricken out, might almost immediately amend its Constitution so as to provide for the recall of judges. But Mr. Taft sees the opportunity and duty of throwing his influence forcibly against the spread of the idea of recalling judges. If he signed the bill passed by Congress, which required of Arizona nothing more than a reconsideration of the judicial recall, it would plainly have been said that the President had had an opportunity to block the recall and had declined to do so, and consequently, that he at least regarded it as no serious menace to American institutions. And that interpretation of his action would have contributed to the spread of the judicial recall elsewhere than in Arizona.

President Has Acted Honestly.

[Baltimore American:] The President is forceful, convincing language declares the recall of judges to be inimical to the standing of the judiciary, a menace to the will of the people as expressed in statutes, and as fostering political control of the judiciary, with all the abuses inherent in this situation.

To the argument that the recall would be rarely used, the President turns and its advocates by asserting that, if rarely to be used, it would be rarely needed, and that, therefore, the importance of preventing its enactment into a State Constitution is paramount. By this expression Mr. Taft has met the issue of recall squarely. He has made it manifest that the novelty, and no sanction from his administration, and the full responsibility of the office, can never be brought to connive at the subordination of the bench to popular clamor. Mr. Taft has acted honestly and with the support of the good sense of the country.

Reason for It. [Washington Star:] "Mr. Ellinger has himself very seriously," said the critical young woman. "Well," replied Miss Cayenne, "you can't blame him. To be thrown into a crowd, with no more brains than he possesses would be a serious matter for anybody."

"PAPKE-BURKE AFFAIR SAD"—QUEENSBERRY.

Marquis Says Papke Is Poor Excuse for Championship Aspirant and That He and Burke Should Learn Fundamentals of the Game—Gives Sailor the Decision Although Neither Deserved Any Coin.

BY THE MARQUIS OF QUEENSBERRY.
[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TWENTIETH CENTURY CLUB, NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] I have no hesitation in saying that the much anticipated, "contest" between Papke and Sailor Burke at the Twentieth Century Athletic Club this evening was the very worst between men of repute that I ever witnessed. It was such a paltry affair from start to finish, except for just a moment in the seventh round, that a decision would be entirely out of place, simply because it was not a fight, not a wrestling match, scarcely a boxing contest; it was an exhibition which was rightly yelled at and the men if they are to continue at their present occupation, should be set back to build up over again.

Certainly for some months to come neither deserves to be billed as a star artist and as for the suggestion that Papke is a champion, well, he did not live up to one-tenth of it.

It would not be difficult to name a dozen men of the weight of the men who fought last night to beat either of them. Each has a punch but left it at home. Their sparring was all and one doubts if either remembers any of the hits he was ever taught. Nearly every blow went wide of the mark and when there was a wild swing it was immediately followed by the spell of rest so well deserved (?)

They only wanted ragtime music to make it complete. They were oblivious to yells and shouts, these seeming to act more as a lullaby than anything else. I consider the spectators the best natured crowd I ever saw. They took it all, but before the end of this ridiculous show a large number of them went out, which was only to be expected.

Papke disappointed more than Burke. When I saw him last Saturday he seemed to put in some neat foot-work, but this evening there was no attempt at it on the part of either man. When Charley White, in his untiring efforts to get the men apart, did succeed, there was a wild rush on the part of one or the other.

White reminiscenced of a laborer's Saturday evening's pastime in slugging at a man he can't see. Phantom fighting would have been better but why continue about such a distressing travesty of the sport we all came to see? I am quite sure that this unfortunate first appearance is most unusual and many of my friends around me were good enough to tell me so. Boxing could not endure very long if its supporters were to be worried with such stuff as that seen tonight.

I was asked to give a decision and endeavored to explain my reasons for not doing so, but if I take the balance of points on the rounds they would show the balance in favor of Burke, but I doubt if any such exhibition was given in England for even a very small purse whether the club offering it would ever part with the money. Burke certainly was brighter than Papke. He put in what he did know and went after his man but could not locate him. That is, any part of the body he wanted to hit. Certainly on one or two occasions Papke retaliated with one or two straight lefts at long range which rather surprised him. I had understood that he was so much better at lighting but on the contrary tonight what gleam of form there was on his part was when the men were standing up, and as I say, at decent range.

We all expected so much when Papke came smiling into the ring garbed in a brown dressing gown. The ex-amateur Rodenbach was close to him and how I wished when the first two or three rounds were over that it was the mat amateur giving an exhibition spar instead of—but I have said enough about that.

The sailor followed his opponent into the ring and he was dressed in a loose tussore gown, quite well. He crossed over and shook hands with Papke and exchanged a few words of stuff. But I thought underlying it all there was a grim look on the part of both men that they meant business and anticipation became keener.

But—it was not realized. (I'm getting at the criticism again.) After the cameras had been busy it was announced in the ring that I was a visitor but I hope the gentlemen present will understand that it was impossible to make even a short speech.

I have said a few words above which I thoroughly mean. When the men threw aside their cloaks Papke appeared resplendent in red velvet trunks with the Stars and Stripes sash, while Burke was in fringe gray with a dark blue sash. I asked if there was any betting and was informed that it was 2 1/2 to 1 on Papke. All I can say is his backers were poor judges, but I should say, without knowing, that no money changed hands on the event.

With the start of the first round we had an early taste of what was to follow. They seemed to expect clinching and they had it with a vengeance. The referee began his warnings early and later very bluntly said what he thought of it, that "it was pretty rotten." How insufferably dull the beginning was! The sailor led (if one can call it leading) but he went yards wide of the mark. Papke gave him his head much in the way Tommy Burns used to "kid" an opponent in the earlier stages. I assure you there was plenty of time for any one to take notes. There was really nothing but clinching.

Things brightened for a few short seconds in the second and Papke looked serious when Burke made as if to make good. But when he did land there was no power behind them and these hits on the target were about one and five. In the middle of the bout there was a very light exchange much as a boxing instructor might give to a novice of half his weight. Toward the end the sailor got in the only blows struck of any weight up to then. A long swinging right on the head and a half arm blow on Papke's ribs did set him thinking. In the third Papke went in with what might have been effective blows on the stomach but there was no science, no hope of seeing it, no suggestion that we were going to have a fight, and the only thing to do was to light a fresh cigar and look at one's watch. By rallying towards the end we were attracted by the sailor going for Papke after a breakaway. He got his left on Papke's ribs but missed a swinging right. It was the best bit of the business up to now for just before the gong sounded Papke got in a useful swinging left on the sailor's eye. But then just as we were roused it all sagged again with an inglorious exhibition how not to do it.

In the fourth both made as if to do something but were terribly wide of the mark. The sailor had his name shouted and brought the spectators around in his favor by landing heavily on the head and body. Then followed the old business and a rally towards the end in which Papke put in some strong fighting but it was over in a flash. The sailor seemed to slow down and went right off. And nothing this, Papke got in a straight left on the sailor's right eye and a light uppercut.

The fifth was another wrestle, but the sailor had revived and swung in some long range shots only to miss badly and incidentally take a bit out of himself. Papke laughed but the sailor was leading in this bout. Papke got in an occasional uppercut but it was all so light and stupid. The continued clinching led the referee to say what I mentioned above, "Pretty rotten, I can tell you," which echoed the sentiments of 99 out of 100 of those present.

In the sixth it was just as poor to begin with, but there was ten seconds of real fighting, showing what the men can really do when—but they must say that. The sailor got in two or three nice swings on Papke's head and did all the attacking. The seventh was the best if there can be a best of all the rounds. There were good exchanges to start off with and it was worth watching, although the sailor was also wild. The sailor got Papke on the ropes and put a couple on what he hoped was the damaged eye.

We ejaculated for the first time that it was the sailor's round. We had not taken the trouble to even think whose round it was up to this.

In the eighth the sailor went off with a wild right swing that chipped Papke's ear. He followed this by two jabs, with the left, but—it was not serious. Later, however, Papke did make the running. In the ninth Papke went right away and got in one on the mark. The sailor shook his head, but Marquis of Queensberry.

Percy Sholto Douglas, ninth Marquis of Queensberry, whose ancestors were dukes whose patent of nobility dates the thirteenth century, arrived in New York a few days ago. In an interview the Marquis said there was room in England for him, and declared that if he could find a suitable position in the United States he would become an American citizen. He has adopted newspaper writing as a profession and will describe all the sporting events for The Times.

LITTLE AND TOUCHARD WIN NATIONAL TITLE.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 22.—Surprises marked the second day's play of the national lawn tennis tournament today, the greatest upset being the defeat of Fred B. Alexander and Harold H. Hackett, four times winners of the national doubles championship, by R. D. Little and G. F. Touchard of New York. The veterans did not relinquish the title without a hard struggle, one set going twenty-eight games before it was won by the defenders. It was their only set.
Little and Touchard won 7-5, 13-15, 6-2, 6-4.
The match was one of the longest that has been played in a championship match on the Casino grounds for many years and came down to a question of endurance in which Little and Touchard proved in better shape.
The challengers started the match by making Hackett the object of attack and repeated shots on his side of the court developed a surprising unsteadiness on his part. The set went to Little and Touchard after twelve games had been played.
In the second set the defenders played more aggressively and Little bore the brunt of their shots. The set ran through to twenty-eight games before Alexander and Hackett won. Little and Touchard had no difficulty in taking the third set, although ten games were necessary to decide the match.
In the fourth, which proved to be the last set, the defenders weakened under the strain, although ten games were necessary to decide the match.
In the all-comers' singles for the privilege of challenging William A. Larned, the second round was completed and one match played in the third round. E. P. Larned, brother of the national champion, and winner of the recent Longwood tournament, was defeated by A. S. Dabney of Boston.
Beals C. Wright, Little and Touchard came through their matches in the second round easily.
M. E. McLoughlin, the Pacific Coast expert, won by default from Pell.
Thomas C. Bundy, another California member of the Davis cup team, met a stubborn opponent in R. C. Seaver, former Massachusetts champion, but won, 6-4, 6-6, 7-5.

AL KAUFMAN JOINS IN MAD RUSH TO NEW YORK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Because of opportunities in New York for several heavyweight matches, Al Kaufman has decided to postpone his contemplated Australian trip and will leave for the East Thursday morning, remaining there as long as the chances for matches continue good.
Kaufman had planned to leave for Australia by steamer, September 6, to accept Hugh McIntosh's offer to meet several of the best of the heavyweight division in the Antipodes.
A telegram from Billy Delaney, however, that urged him to drop all other plans and hurry to New York, caused the change in his arrangements.
Delaney has in mind for Kaufman a ten-round match with Al Palmer, the New York heavyweight, who recently beat Jim Kennedy. Should Kaufman be successful against Palmer, there will be plenty of other talent in sight, as Jim Fynn and Carl Morris are both headed for the States.

SEALS HAVE HAD BAD ACCIDENT.

"Dillon thinks he has a lot of luck with his team," murmured J. Powell of the Seals yesterday, but should stop and think what the Francisco team has been up against this season.
"Practically every man on the team has been out of the game off and for from two days to two weeks at a time."
"Catcher Berry has been bothered good deal with a sore arm," J. Schmidt had a broken finger. E. Brown and Tennant had torn ligaments. Browning a split finger; McCardie had leg; Miller, stomach trouble; V. a sprained ankle; one of my legs a sprained and Weaver and McKee out of the game now from a sprain of the groin. None of these accidents are counted in the long list of mishaps and wounds that the various players receive in almost every game.

WOLVERTON GETS ST. MARY'S TWIRLER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Tiny" Leonard who returned from the East, where he went from St. Mary's College to pitch for Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, joined the Oakland club today.
The weather in the East did not agree with Leonard and he was compelled to return home, so he turned over to the Oakland club.
He arrived here a week ago, he has been visiting at his home in the country. Leonard says he has gained five pounds in weight since he arrived here and thinks he will be in shape to twirl in two or three weeks.

GETS THREE-POINTER.

W. O. Tapp of this city returned home yesterday with the head of a three-point deer, which he shot in the Santa Monica Mountains. Wild-cats and silver-tailed foxes are abundant up the coast. Time says.

NEW YORK GIANTS TAKE LEAD IN NATIONAL RACE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The New York Giants took the lead today in the close pennant race of the National League.

Hard on Chicago's side, a game lost to Philadelphia, 7 to 1, is several years since three have been so close in the National League at this time of the season.

The last ten years one of the new fighting for first place has been the championship of the National League, and New York twice (in 1909 and 1910) has won it.

It was in 1908 that the National League of their closest races, when New York and Chicago required a game to decide the championship.

With so slight a margin separating the three teams now, it is some as to which club will win in the end.

Chicago ends its last series with New York in the East today and was the river to Brooklyn, where it has won but three games out of eight this year.

New York continues on home under this week, meeting Pittsburgh, which New York has beaten out of seven games in this city.

NEW YORK GIANTS TAKE LEAD IN NATIONAL RACE.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

NEW YORK, Aug. 22.—The New York Giants took the lead today in the close pennant race of the National League.

Hard on Chicago's side, a game lost to Philadelphia, 7 to 1, is several years since three have been so close in the National League at this time of the season.

The last ten years one of the new fighting for first place has been the championship of the National League, and New York twice (in 1909 and 1910) has won it.

It was in 1908 that the National League of their closest races, when New York and Chicago required a game to decide the championship.

With so slight a margin separating the three teams now, it is some as to which club will win in the end.

Chicago ends its last series with New York in the East today and was the river to Brooklyn, where it has won but three games out of eight this year.

New York continues on home under this week, meeting Pittsburgh, which New York has beaten out of seven games in this city.

Poor Old Mr. Wad, He Didn't Want to See a Perfectly Good Grave Go to Waste!

FAMOUS SPEEDSTERS FOR GIANT MOTOR CLASSIC.

Automobile race drivers, with the fastest cars on earth, are to be lined up for the Santa Monica road race Saturday, October 14. This year's classic is to be the greatest race ever held in this country, if the plans formulated at the important meeting of the race officials last night are carried out to the letter. Members of the racing committee and the officials of the city of Santa Monica met in an important gathering at Santa Monica yesterday. There was something about every minute.

The race course is to be made as smooth as glass. The turns are to be banked. The road through the Solano Hills is to be made as near perfect as possible. The drive along the Palmdale is to be given special attention and the course, when it is finished, should be fast enough for any of the high 30-horse-power cars to break all the world records that ever existed.

At the banquet given last night at the Seaside Terrace, in Santa Monica, Mayor Dudley boosted for the big road race and was backed up by the racing chairman, Lewis Schwabe, and the committee, the chairman of which, A. M. Young, promised to bring out the best cars on earth for the big road race. Lewis Schwabe was another name who swung into line. Superintendents Nellis, McCabe and Butler were present.

There is enough interest in the race to insure its entire success and the automobile dealers are a unit in the expression that the Santa Monica road race this year will overshadow any other race ever held west of the Rocky mountains. There is much to be done with a large entry list practically assured the preliminary arrangements will be settled this week, and the hard work can be tackled during September.

There is plenty of time to put the course into shape, but the committee hopes that work will be commenced on the road this coming week. It will cost several thousands of dollars to get the road into as good condition as it was last year. The course must be as fast, say those who are in charge, because records are almost certain to be smashed if the worst of the bumps are eliminated.

This is the third Santa Monica road race and possibly the last. The contract with the city of Santa Monica is completed and finished after this race. The terms call for three contests at the seaside city, and when the first of races shall have been conducted then the obligations entered into by the officials of Santa Monica and the automobile dealers will have been completed and the automobile dealers will have been settled to the letter.

From one end of this country to the other, this race has attracted attention. It has become the Vanderbilt of the West, and this season it is to eclipse even the Vanderbilt if Young chairman, Lewis Schwabe, Ralph has his say. The members of the Racing Committee are A. M. Young, Hamlin, Charles Cotton and W. H. Russell. This quintette has already jumped into action and are determined to pull off the greatest road race ever held.

The first entry has already been received. The list is to start with Teddy Tetzlaff at the wheel. Two Marmonas are to be entered and two Nationals will start. With a Pope-Hartford, a Loxier, a Thomas and other flyers entered the entry list should be the largest of any year to date. The race is to be held under the auspices of the Automobile Dealers' Association, but many entries are to be made by the big eastern factories.

Fred C. Penner left yesterday for Old Baldy in Black Bear. He is driving the car over the road and in places where no roads at all exist. The Baldy course is washed out in several places and before a race could be held over the course it would cost several thousands of dollars to put the road into condition.

Good roads mean long life to the tires. This does not mean Diamond, Goodrich, Firestone, Morgan-Wright, Continental or, in fact, any other make. It is the rubber that sells in the long run and if the long run is on good roads the tires will last twice as long as they would if sent over such a course as the Baldy road, for instance.

Charles Cotton is one of the main hustlers on the Santa Monica Road Race Committee. He is doing the act with the Los Angeles-Pacific officials. To date, he is sure the race is to be the greatest ever and he certain the attendance will be larger than that of any other year.

Stafford Bixby is anxiously waiting for that new Isotta-Fraschini. Think of a double braking system. Brakes on the front wheels, emergency operated by a hand lever, no brakes on the transmission. Sounds particularly good and we are all as anxious as Stafford to see the car, which, by the way, may not reach here until November. That will be just too late for the Phoenix race.

O. R. Fuller, that big truck man, is in that new location holding forth patiently and anxiously awaiting his new 1911 truck line. He has taken the agency for the Kaiser, one of the handiest of the higher-priced lines, and these cars are to be shown to the public soon by the debonair agent.

H. K. Butterfield will have today for the Kaiser factory, where he will spend about two weeks looking over the new line of Kaiser cars. The new machines already have attracted considerable attention in the East and are said to be hummers. They are to be turned out in just as many models as the Kaiser trucks, which already have created a sensation here.

H. B. Pettison left yesterday for Los Olivos to look over the road where one of his most remarkable runs was made. No, he did not ride in a motor car today with an order for a new car in his pocket. Yes, they are selling both Thomas cars and Cole thirties.

J. H. Murphy returned yesterday from San Diego after his rather thrilling experience with the insurgents down there. His story of the actions of those fellows across the line would not make good reading. It's lucky Murphy did not get into action with a gun.

ATWOOD MAKING RECORDS IN LONG-DISTANCE FLY.

(BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

Summary of the ninth day of Atwood's St. Louis-to-New York flight:

Ascended at Belle Isle, 7 miles west of Syracuse, 4:55 p.m.

Over Utica, fifty-eight miles.

Landed Fort Plain, ninety-five miles, 7:05 p.m.

Flying time today, 5h. 10m.

Distance from St. Louis, 1045 miles.

Total flying time, 23h. 36m.

Distance to New York, 11 miles.

FORT PLAIN (N. Y.) Aug. 22.—Another remarkable spin through the air on his aeroplane flight from St. Louis to New York brought Harry N. Atwood from Belle Isle, five miles west of Syracuse, to Fort Plain late today and landed him 115 miles nearer his destination.

F... Belle Isle, where he ascended at 4:55 p.m., Atwood sailed over Syracuse, turned his biplane eastward and in the twilight descended into the Mohawk Valley, alighting in the town of Fort Plain.

Today was 2 hours and 10 minutes and was made without a stop.

"The air was as calm as a pool," said Atwood. "Most of the time I kept my hands in my pockets or read a time table."

Atwood believes he possibly may be able to make New York tomorrow, but probably will not reach there until Thursday, because the rough and wooded country from Albany down the Hudson River may compel him to descend in difficult places or effect landings on the water.

Atwood lacks just ninety-nine miles of beating the international record now held in Europe. He will surpass it when he reaches the Rhine River, on the Hudson.

No mishap attended his flight today, although he flew most of the way in the twilight and all of it in dense haze. He flew over 175 towns and cities and maintained a schedule equal to a fast mail train. His start was delayed by a stiff breeze until 4:55 o'clock, when the wind calmed.

It was almost dark when Atwood reached Fort Plain. He hovered a while over the town and then alighted on a clear spot on the opposite bank of the Mohawk River.

"It's been a lousy run all the way," Atwood said. "Any body could do it. If experiments in aviation would be confined to straight ahead sailing, I am sure the problem would be more quickly and easily solved. I sometimes set my planes and sail along without touching them for ten minutes at a stretch, while they sail."

GUS ANDERSON WANTS CRACK AT FREDDIE.

Now comes Gus Anderson with a challenge to Freddie Welsh.

Yesterday the long, lanky youth, who has fought nine battles and never received an adverse decision, was matched to meet Al Rogers September 9 at Vernon.

His manager, James Schneider, wandered into The Times office last night and said that after his man Anderson had defeated Rogers—not "if" but "after," he had turned the trick. He, Schneider, would post $1000 to hard money of the realm that Anderson can beat Freddie Welsh.

Anderson hails from Sioux City and has fought several battles with fairly good men in San Francisco and secured a draw with Leonard Lauder at Vernon.

He is a clean, upstanding young fellow, with a good eye and a powerful punch in either hand and has but one desire in life, and that is to meet Freddie Welsh.

FIGHTERS ENGAGED FOR CHURCH BOUT.

(A. P. DAY NEWS REPORT.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 22.—To show the general public, which does not take advantage of every opportunity, just how a boxing bout is staged, and how the boys are struck," is the purpose of the members of the United Methodist Church, as expressed in a petition today to the Superintendent of Police for permission to give two consecutive professional pugilists next Thursday night. Permission was granted.

"Young" Sweeney and Stewart Donnelly, lightweights, and Jack Morgan and George Koerner, middleweights, have been engaged for the bout, which will be features of a carnival for the benefit of the church's fund.

INK FOR LOVE
YALLER'S FOR—Tell, if You Would Think
Hard—Then Yellow.anyhow, Edna Wallace Hopper Says So.the Has Clothes Problem All Figured Out.

BY GRACE KINGSLEY.

Why, if she were nothing at all, except that curly bathing suit she made such a fuss about a few years ago, it would be all the more. Maybe it would be more so!

I mean Edna Wallace Hopper, and the triple X, double-distilled vivacity and beauty stable that are hers.

One supposes she has the usual number of lines—indeed, no Venice-made law is in force on the Mason road—but one is superlatively conscious only of Miss Hopper's spirit.

And clothes! Those wonderful clothes that are as expressive of her as a perfume of its flower.

"Why is it?" I ask her as we face each other in her dressing-room, and she slips on that marvelous diamond-encrusted miniature of her mother.

"Why," she answers me, "that's because I study to make my clothes express my personality—every bit of it."

I glanced at the rows and rows of feminine belongings—from those funny dresses with all the trimmings on the inside, that stage people know in, to a sumptuous kimono, and as I gazed at a frivolous little pink rag of a dress on the wall, did the buttons wink me Edna's own whimsical little long-distance wink?

"Clothes have great individuality," she goes on, "can express every subtlety of temperament and feeling."

I was thinking of Ellen Terry in white as Ophelia, and of Sir Henry Irving's notions about such things. Even as I reflected, a gay little empty mirror, full of the roundness of Edna's own white arm, reached to me seductively from the wall.

"I believe they can," I echoed.

"Clothes can express one's whole personality!"

Sweetness and light! I had intended making it quite a stupendously analytic interview—asking Miss Hopper about her favorite roles, and all that; but when I found that a pepper-and-salt suit expresses that you don't like enemies, and that a green tailor suit may advertise to the world that you like dark men—I decided on a slow-brow resume of a lady's wardrobe for a summer morning's reading, and not to give anybody around known as the star of Art, this hot weather.

"Color, now you know," went on the vivacious little lady, "there's yellow—that gives one an intellectual feeling; red is for passion; and there is pink, expressing love. Green is not a good color for the stage, except the very lightest."

A mad little siren sigh escaped a green petticoat on the wall.

I glanced round at it, and tiny slipper, rere and rere of them—peeped at me from beneath the dress.

"Why, you haven't grown a bit!" I mentally exclaimed. I was thinking of the petite and vivacious bit of a heroine of "Wang," in the days of the unknown De Wolf. But she herself made, in those days.

"But quite another fellow!"

There was a sentimental drama in the beautiful four-decay gown, as I turned, my fascinated eyes upon it, while the smug lines of a spiritual blue creation plastered themselves against the wall, the buttonholes looking like wing mouths.

"Lady Duff Gordon designed all my dresses for the Purple Lady and they are all new for this piece," cried the pretty actress, giving me an ensemble view of that gorgeous purple and carmine gown she wears in the first act.

"Lady Duff Gordon believes, you know, that our clothes should express ourselves transcendentally. See how this violent dress expresses the sort of person I'm supposed to be. Then, in the next act, I wear the purple and white, expressive of refinement—which is the character that it is supposed to show on the people in my real character; and in the last act I wear the pink—completely suggestive of ingenueness, modesty, refinement."

"Do you remember in 'The Country House'?" In that I was a simple little country girl, and wore white all through, except that in the last act, I wore a dash of red at belt and on my hat, to subtly express the triumph which was mine."

"Audiences gain subtle impressions of characters subconsciously, through the manner in which they are clothed."

"Yes, clothing can express anything."

The hooks and eyes of the dashing purple sent me an assuring smile.

"Mercy!" I thought. How fortunate a lady would be to be financially able to express herself in this way! Why saying to one's self:

"Today I want people to know I'm merry. Therefore, I shall put on my red satin brocade. This will save my being witty and all that tiresome stuff. Or—"

"I wish people to feel intellectual when they look at me. All right, I'll just put on my high-brown yellow foulard. It would be awful of course, to find ripe in the arms of one's gay gown, and have to look intellectual when one didn't want to—but there—"

She held out her hand. How could I close the interview without her telling me she liked California? It's always good, do I did!

"How do you like California? Don't you think our climate?"

"Why," she laughed that chic little laugh, and cocked that chic little turban—why California's my State. Of course, I like it. And you needn't boast about the climate, for it's my climate, just as much as it's yours!"

Getting Busy.

HOCKEY TO BE GIVEN A BOOST.MANY TEAMS TO BE ORGANIZED
HERE IN FALL.

Los Angeles, Santa Monica and Duarte are each to put three teams in field—Pat Higgins and Others are Formulating Elaborate Plans for Busy Season.

Hockey is to be one of the great outdoor winter games of Los Angeles, if the plans of P. J. Higgins, G. C. Young and P. J. Dudley materialize. Higgins is captain of the Los Angeles Hockey Club, Young is skipper of the Duarte aggregation, while Dudley is at the helm of the beach organization.

Higgins is forming three separate teams to represent the Annet City. One will be composed solely of men players, a second exclusively of women, and the third will be composite. In this way the triangular championship matches between Los Angeles, Duarte and Santa Monica. The locals were not in it at any stage of the game, due in part to their being unfamiliar with the game. Now that they know the meaning of "sticks," "offside," "kicking," and the penalty exacted for hitting the sphere with the reverse side of the stick, they should not only carry off the pennant, but prove well-nigh invincible.

SANTA MONICA'S STAR. The real danger of defeat will come from Santa Monica. In Meredith Thurston, the beach eleven has a player of sterling worth. Thurston can hit a goal from any direction and is one of the most tricky dribblers in the southland. Backed by such stars as N. Nettleship, P. J. Dudley, J. M.

cleverest hockey player in Southern California, who will play with Santa Monica team in important games

More Honors for Ruth.

Ruth Gartland, Frank Egan's wonderful girl, who went East at the solicitation of John Cort to take a place in Mrs. Carter's company for next season. Little Miss Gartland's shapely head is in a whirl of bewilderment. She is in New York now, and James K. Hackett has just offered her the leading role in his proposed dramatization of David Graham Phillips' novel, "The Grains of Dust," recently concluded in one of the country's best-known serials.

If Miss Gartland accepts this offer she will impersonate the demure but baffling stenographer, while Hackett himself will be the ruthless and domineering corporation attorney whom she brings to bay. There would seem to be no man on the stage more fitted by nature for this particular assignment.

may, A. H. Collins and R. Farquhar. Duarte possesses three star hockey players. The former won his colors at Newton College, England, and is fast and reliable; Bacon wears the orange and black of the Occidental track team, and Turner is an ex-member of the Southern California School of Law football eleven. All three are sprinters and carry the ball down the ground at a terrific clip. By next and timely passing, they form a combination which is extremely difficult to break up.

The champions had no men's team for this fall, but are busy organizing one for the fall. They have a cracker-jack women's eleven, which will make their rival women's teams back up and take notice. In the Misses Dolly Scott, Ina Young, Alice Scott, Helen Maddock, Marjorie Morgan, Margaret Turner, Marjorie Morgan, and Lorraine Handyside, they have championship caliber.

The local teams will be captained by P. J. Higgins and Miss Marguerite Miller. P. Bamford and W. Maddock of the Los Angeles Cricket Club have been asked to join the locals, as both are husky fellows and are keen on all outdoor forms of sport. Associated with them will be R. O. A. Chancellor, a South of England champion; A. R. Torston, of Australia; J. F. W. Allan, of Forfarshire, Scotland; F. M. Shuchan of Ireland; E. H. Stott, A. Kilbane, C. Robertson and F. Sward.

Miss Miller of Weston-Super-Mare, Eng., who qualified for the Western Cottes hockey team, will put a formidable team in the field. She has organized a Y. W. C. A. hockey club, and it is expected that some of the star players from that organization will affiliate with the women's team of Los Angeles. Mrs. Blomfield, of New Zealand, will be an active player this season, as also will the Misses Bord and Crosby.

Arrangements are being made with the Los Angeles Cricket Club to have the use of their ground during the winter months. By this means the field will be kept clean in time for the opening of the cricket season in May. Practice games will commence early

GETS AWAY WITH RISKY DANISH GAMBIT.

The following interesting game was played in section III of the Southern California chess correspondence tournament. George E. Hart of Lem-on Grove, opening the risky Danish Gambit, found himself strongly opposed by Prof. George H. Glanville of Los Angeles up to the eleventh move, when the latter, who was under time pressure occasioned by extra professional duties, failed to protect himself from a dangerous thrust of his adversary, and could never recover the advantage.

MAGGERT AGAIN IN BAD; CANNED.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 22.

(Exclusive Dispatch.) The Oakland Club has placed Harry Maggert on the suspended list again. Following a fist fight with Gus Hettling Saturday night in Los Angeles, Maggert failed to show up at the grounds for Sunday's double header, and Manager Wolverton suspended him indefinitely.

Maggert took a train from Los Angeles Sunday night and came home, leaving the team in the lurch.

"Helling and Maggert had a little fight," said Wolverton, "but it was not for that reason that I suspended him. All players have fights once in a while, and I pass over those things as it shows the proper fighting spirit, but when Maggert failed to show up for Sunday's double header, I suspended him. Any time a player starts to run a ball team, it is about time he is disciplined."

This makes the third time of the season Maggert has been suspended. He has been sold to the Philadelphia Americans and Connie Mack will tackle the job of taming him.

"PAPKE-BURKE AFFAIR SAD."

there was no cause for his supporters, if he had any left, to be distressed. Every one knew it would go full length. Just as we were preparing ourselves for something bright to go home with, the old order of things followed. But it was Papke's ruin.

The spectators were leaving the club by the score when the truth was too weary way. The sailor led and kept his head in this, however, but it was also rotten. I am merely quoting Charles White, that it was fully a week off any points in favor of one or the other.

There was just a suggestion which I have seen in wrestling matches which were not brought to a decision, that the men had a slight premonition against each other. English shorts call it "taking," that it was made plain, that is, that one had the edge on the other. Perhaps some one who knows the vernacular of both countries could translate this.

The "fight" was over and the two men went for each other. They were three or four bright exchanges of compliments until they were separated. But why separate them? I am sure that there would have been a good many dollar bills parted with into a hat if they had gone on.

But they cut what I could only think was a caper. I have never before seen the entertainment given to the boxing public tonight, and almost apologize for the length of this. But it is in the hope that the nature of such poor stuff may find their level and they be spared from my report of it until we have committed a fault and we have to do just justice.

The arrangements at the Twentieth Century Club were admirable. I had have something, in fact a great deal, to say about whether it is advisable to have the referee within the ropes. It worked well tonight, at all events.

Charles White was simply admirable. There was an absence of talk between the men, which in some corners in England has been so much to be desired. Incidentally Tommy Burns nearly lost a fight once through his "jollifying" going on. The men last night meant business, not talk. It was a fight, not a conversation. But your spectators, although imbued with the best of sporting instincts, are not kept so quiet as is attempted at the N. B. C. in London.

A man likes to smoke when he goes out to a theater or to a boxing match, but it is a bit rough on the men in the arena, but there, blame my heart, Burke and Papke seem able to stand anything, at least, neither blushed nor flinched. In looking at the two men I have just been discussing one would almost imagine them heavyweights. I suppose meeting at catchweights just gave that few pounds extra in "appearance" which prompted the thought.

It was refreshing that neither man had any guile to raise of the referee or the choice of him. Boxers have had a good deal too much to say in this direction, and have been allowed unwarrantable license in their objections. Another thing, too, the referee was absolute master of the situation. He does not rap out his commands to the men to break away as he does many I have seen, for instance, Eugene Cort, whose voice even if he is sitting inside the ring, is not heard. More than once I have seen him throw off his dress coat and step under the ropes, and on one occasion when he found that inside it had a very large sum of money in the pocket. Cort was talking of only one thing, however—being obeyed, and his arms accomplished what his weakening voice only partially did.

PAPKE-BURKE FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round 1: Burke rushed in and sent left to body and face without a return. Papke sent a left to the face and Burke countered with a hard left to the stomach. When the bell rang they were swapping punches in the center of the ring.

Round 2: They rushed into a clinch, and fought it at close quarters. Both played for the body. Burke had the better of the inching and sent a straight left to the face. Papke was working in short burst punches and took a left and a right to the head. Burke's round.

Round 3: Burke rushed, and was met with a right hand uppercut. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Round 4: Burke rushed to the ropes with light and left to head and body. They then slugged wildly all over the ring. Burke was cautioned for holding. Papke landed half a dozen lefts and rights to neck and head and a right uppercut to the chin. Burke was a trifle wild. Papke's round.

Round 5: They rushed into a clinch, and fought it at close quarters. Both played for the body. Burke had the better of the inching and sent a straight left to the face. Papke was working in short burst punches and took a left and a right to the head. Burke's round.

Round 6: The taller landed four rights exchanged lefts and rights to the face. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Round 7: They got together quickly and exchanged lefts and rights to the face. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Round 8: They got together quickly and exchanged lefts and rights to the face. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Round 9: They got together quickly and exchanged lefts and rights to the face. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Round 10: They got together quickly and exchanged lefts and rights to the face. Burke rushed and sent a right to the body. Papke countered lightly. Burke forced the pace and landed a left to the face. He then rushed across the ring, exchanging blows at short range. Burke's round.

Western Lines Not Joining in Retrenchment.

Harriman Properties in Shape to Lay Off Men.

Reason Alleged Is Irregular
Business Volume.

According to a dispatch received yesterday the retrenchment policy of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific lines, in laying off a large number of employees, is not being met by similar retrenchment in other western railroads. Heads of the Northern Pacific, Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads say that the policy of the Harriman lines in this respect is not to be followed by them.

President Lovett of the Harriman lines refused to discuss the reduction in force when an attempt was made to secure a statement from him in New York yesterday.

It is generally known that in regard to the physical condition of the Union Pacific and Southern Pacific have never been in more excellent shape. Because of this, the railroads could afford to lay off possibly two-thirds of a section gang of eight, without risking deterioration of the lines for a long time.

It was reported in Wall street yesterday that the retrenchment plan might mean a coming to employees who are murmuring strike, of which there has been considerable talk among the shop men of the Harriman lines, Rock Island and Illinois Central. An executive official of the Southern Pacific stated yesterday that the work of double-tracking the Harriman lines to the Pacific Coast would not be discontinued, at least that part of the work for which contracts have been let. It is the purpose of the Harriman interests to have a through double track system to the Pacific Coast before the date of the Panama exposition.

The strike situation on the southern district, including 3172 miles of track from Fresno and Santa Barbara to El Paso, with headquarters in Los Angeles, affects about 700 men.

"We are making a reduction in our forces," said H. V. Elliott, general superintendent of the southern district. "It is occasioned largely by the irregular volume of business at this time of year. It affects to some extent the clerical and station forces, bridge and building, the maintenance of way forces and the shop forces in such ratio as the adjustment of the present forces bear to the volume of business offered."

Lecture on Economy.
F. G. Athearn, head of the Bureau of Economics of the Southern Pacific, with headquarters in San Francisco, will deliver a series of lectures on economy in the operation of transportation lines, at the University of California next month.

Western Pacific Anniversary.
The Western Pacific celebrated its first anniversary of through operation yesterday. The road is the westernmost link of the Gould system, extending from Salt Lake to San Francisco. A year ago yesterday through train service began between Salt Lake and San Francisco.

ABOUT TO RECEIVE SILVER AS PATROLMAN INTERFERES.

As He Is Led from Lucrative Post to Police Station, Youngster Sets Up Wall That Is No Stage Business—
Arrested Sympathizers of Tender-Hearted Person.

Had it not been for the interference of police officers yesterday morning, George Koffman, 8 years old, a "nob" beggar, might have gone home with his pockets lined with silver last night. As it is, he must remain inside the parental pining at No. 1643 East Thirty-third street or the police will take him in charge.

George was sitting in the gutter at Eleventh and Hill streets yesterday morning, trying as if his heart would break, and attracting the attention of kindhearted pedestrians.

When asked why he was crying, he would reply that he had lost a quarter and was afraid to go home for fear his parents would whip him. The tears appeared genuine and the youthful mendicant had twice retrieved his supposed loss before the police found him.

As Patrolman Robinson walked up to the boy a man was taking a half-dollar from his purse and telling the boy not to cry.

Some boy has been working this game in the city for several weeks and has reaped a harvest. The police cannot say whether it is Koffman.

He has frequented the downtown district, going from corner to corner to cry and receive a shower of silver pieces.

Patrolman Robinson prevented the half-dollar being given the boy and received a genuine brawl for his trouble. He led the boy to the Los Angeles Police Station, with the youngster screaming at the top of his voice every step of the way.

ALL IN OUR FAVOR.
Los Angeles May Be Main Port of Entry if Consolidation of Districts Is Effected.

The proposition to consolidate the United States collection districts of San Diego and Los Angeles, the programme outlined by Secretary MacVeagh in the interest of economy in the public service, would seem to show conclusively that if such consolidation is effected, Los Angeles ought to be the main port of entry for all vessels south of San Francisco.

In San Diego the figures for the past year show the receipts of Collector Blake to have amounted to $119,000. The receipts for the Los Angeles office aggregated $500,000. The present year will bring the Los Angeles office into the million-dollar class.

THEY'LL GET CITY WATER.

Service to Be Extended at Once to Districts South Now Supplied by Private Companies.

Municipal water service is to be extended at once, with accompanying fire protection, to two districts in the southern part of the city. This may be followed by extension to a larger area. This decision was reached by the Public Service Commission at its meeting yesterday afternoon at a final hearing of the citizens who complain of inadequate service from private companies.

One district is between Fifty-second street and Budlong avenue, and has about 600 consumers. It has been served by the Rioli and Ritzman Company, whose distributing system will be assimilated by the water department so far as possible.

The other district is between Twenty-seventh and Thirtieth streets and Arlington and Sixth avenues, with about eighty consumers, and has been served by the Starr Water Company.

The other area is that served by the Moneta Water Company, and is between Blauson and Florence avenues and Figueroa street and South Park avenue. It has several thousand consumers. The commission has not finished its investigation of this area and took its action under advisement.

FRYING PAN TO FIRE.

Negro Steals Auto, Arrested for Speeding, Tries to Borrow Bail Money, Is Taken for Theft.

Arrested twice for speeding, D. A. Pollock, an 18-year-old colored boy, yesterday afternoon began a fifteen-day sentence in the County Jail, and on his release will be rearrested on a charge of having stolen Dr. Harry W. Forbes's car for his joy ride.

Pollock is alleged to have taken the auto early yesterday morning from in front of the College of Osteopathy. He headed for the outskirts. Hitting a pace of twenty-seven miles an hour, he was arrested by Deputy City Marshal Higgins and Cooper of Pasadena, taken before Judge Soper and fined $15, with the alternative of fifteen days.

Pollock hadn't the money, but said he could raise it in Los Angeles. The deputies jumped into the car and he was speeding here with him when motorcycle officers placed them under arrest. The deputy's badge finally got them off.

Pollock then drove to a pawnshop and tried to pledge his watch for the amount of the fine, but failed. Other places were visited unsuccessfully and the prisoner decided to appeal to his brother at the Firestone agency on South Olive street.

As the car slowed down, Dr. Forbes and several friends ran out and surrounded the trio. When the tangle
